About us

Academic excellence meets industry immersion

Newcastle University has a proud tradition of academic excellence, spanning more than 180 years. The new London campus brings this Russell Group education to a major world city for business, finance and commerce.

Excellence with a Purpose

Newcastle University is a world-class civic university, committed to excellence with a purpose. The reputation and success of the University are backed up by the high-quality learning and teaching experience that we provide for our students. We are consistently ranked in the top 20 in the UK for student experience and research, and our commitment to education for life is supported by our strong graduate employability record.

Civic mission

Newcastle University’s civic mission to address global societal challenges such as ageing, social renewal and sustainability is the basis of the establishment of Newcastle University London. The campus expands the reach of not only what we are good at, but what we are good for, and connects our world-class research to industry and the wider global community.

Networks and communities

Newcastle University London students are part of a friendly and supportive learning community. They foster strong working relationships between lecturers and fellow classmates, and join part of the wider Newcastle University community of alumni and partners.

An industry-immersive education

London is the world’s leading finance centre, according to a recent study (Global Financial Centres Index 2016, Z/Yen Group). Through our location in the heart of the City of London, the business and finance hub, we have established partnerships with a range of national and international businesses headquartered in the city. This allows us to offer what we like to call an industry-immersive education (see page 20), enabling students to realise their potential and become tomorrow’s business leaders.

Quality assurance

All degrees offered at our London campus meet the same rigorous quality standards as the home campus degree programmes. As with all UK universities, Newcastle University London is monitored by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (QAA), and the quality of our research is assessed through the Research Excellence Framework (REF).

In addition, our degree programmes have been designed by Newcastle University Business School, which holds triple accreditation (AACSB, AMBA and EQUIS*). This puts our programmes in the top 1% of business programmes worldwide.

* Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, Association of MBAs and European Quality Improvement System.
Igniting Your Success

Ten reasons to study with us

Your journey begins at Newcastle University London: a world-leading, Russell Group university in the heart of a major world financial district. Our industry-immersive education will equip you with the skills you need to get ahead as a global business leader.

1. A leading global university
   We bring the best of Newcastle University to the capital - a top 200 world university (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2016/17) with a 90% overall student satisfaction score (National Student Survey 2016).

2. Research-informed teaching
   Our reputation is based on both the quality of our academic work and our research approach, which engages communities, organisations, business and industry. Newcastle University is ranked 16th in the UK in the Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014.

3. Industry-immersive education
   Begin your career connected. From day one, you’ll learn from academics with industry experience to develop the skills sought after by top global companies. More on page 20.

4. Real business projects
   Nothing makes a CV shine like real experience and tangible business success. That’s why our undergraduate and postgraduate students undertake business projects in real-life environments, gaining a valuable insight into the world of work.

5. World-class work experience opportunities
   All of our undergraduate students are entitled to apply for a one year work placement, with shorter placements available to all students whether you are studying on a university preparation, undergraduate or postgraduate programme. It’s a great opportunity to gain first-hand business experience, hone your skills, and make career-boosting connections.

6. High-profile public events
   Regular public lectures with leaders of industry help you keep your fingers on the pulse. Always inspiring, always free to attend, past events include lectures themed on the EU referendum, corruption in sports, and Lord Allen of Kensington’s career.

7. The London life
   Our campus is a stone’s throw from the Square Mile, where three quarters of US Fortune 500 companies have offices. Meanwhile, Shoreditch – one of London’s most distinctive and culturally rich areas – is only a few minutes away by foot. More on page 16.

8. Small campus in a big city
   The prospect of studying in one of the biggest cities in Europe may be a little daunting, but we bring the warm community of Newcastle University to the capital. We believe in personal education, with an intimate, supportive learning community and dedicated support staff. More on page 12.

9. A truly global environment
   University is about more than just academia – live and learn alongside friends from the UK and all around the world. You will also connect with tomorrow’s business leaders in one of the most international cities in the world.

10. A global graduate community
    Attend regular networking events to connect with Newcastle University graduates, both on and off campus. You can also use the Graduate Connections database to get in touch with alumni from all around the world, who may be prove to be useful contacts. First-rate facilities
You’ll work towards your degree in a modern, high-quality learning environment. It’s a great space, designed to help you focus on achieving your full potential. We’re well equipped with study pods for quiet learning, multi-purpose lecture theatres and seminar rooms complete with interactive whiteboards. These flexible spaces support lectures, practical sessions, seminars and tutorials. You’ll also benefit from high-quality IT and e-learning resources.

Then when it’s time for a break, there are plenty of social spaces too. If you’re feeling peckish, our campus café serves a range of snacks and beverages, and we also have a number of breakout areas including table tennis facilities. Middlesex Street is a local student hangout. There are plenty of student hangouts close to the campus, including cafés and pubs.

The Learning Resource Centre
For all our pathway, undergraduate and postgraduate students, our well-equipped Learning Resource Centre is the place to go for learning materials. These include core textbooks, DVDs, CDs and newspapers, as well as printing, copying and scanning facilities. You’ll also have access to Newcastle University’s wealth of online learning resources, including over half a million ebooks and electronic journals. Best of all, our experienced and friendly team are on hand to help you make the most of the resources available.

Master’s suite for postgraduate students
The master’s suite is a dedicated area for postgraduate students to complete assignments and unwind in between lectures. It’s a pleasant, quiet, independent study space, equipped with IT facilities.

Modern IT facilities and e-resources
Students have full access to on-campus IT facilities and can take advantage of the free wireless internet available. Additional study resources include a virtual learning environment, giving access to reading lists, programme handouts, online assessment and discussions. We also provide a supportive online learning system if English isn’t your first language.

Gym facilities
Look after your body as well as your mind by joining either the Fitness First gym next door to our campus, or the University of London Student Central gym and pool facilities just a few tube stops away. Students enjoy discounted membership rates, and you can make the most of facilities including a cardio theatre, free weights, spin studio and personal trainers.

Did you know?
London campus students can access Newcastle University’s online ebooks and ejournals, of which there are over six million.

Extra resources right on your doorstep
Living in London gives you convenient access to a wealth of library, sporting and social facilities. For example:

- Local libraries include the Bishopsgate Institute, The Barbican Library and The British Library.
- Olympic Park – home of the 2012 Olympic Games – is just three tube stops away.
- Hundreds of cafés, bars, restaurants and pubs in nearby Spitalfields Market, Petticoat Lane and the foodie’s paradise that is Brick Lane.
- Worship spaces for all faiths – the Student Service team will be happy to provide you with more information.

Skilled, approachable staff are on hand to assist students, offering individual training on the resources to help you make the most of your time here in London.

Fancy heading further afield?

Newcastle University London has excellent transport links. The campus is a five-minute walk from Liverpool Street Station, where you can hop on four different underground lines and National Rail services. There are also good bus links to Central and East London. Oxford Street, Covent Garden and Piccadilly Circus are just 15 minutes away, and Newcastle is three hours by train from London King’s Cross. At the weekend it’s easy to explore other parts of the UK, like Brighton, Oxford, even scenic Cornwall.

You can also visit other European cities including Paris, Brussels and Lille using the Eurostar.
An inspiring place to live and learn, London has a vast array of parkland, landmarks and museums. It is also a diverse and welcoming city with people of more than 270 nationalities calling London home.

Explore London

Academic excellence meets location

Welcome to London, a world-leading financial centre immersed in history and culture.

Did you know?

London has over 200 free museums.

Free London fun

One of the best things about studying in London is just how much fun you can have on a shoestring budget. As well as free galleries and museums, you can watch the changing of the guards for some free touristic fun. There are also plenty of festivals which are free for students, including No Strings Attached, a live music event. Whatever you do, don’t forget to set a calendar update for Notting Hill Carnival, the Totally Thames Festival, and of course, Chinese New Year – London’s Chinatown holds the biggest celebrations outside of Asia!

Explore London

As Samuel Johnson once said: "...when a man is tired of London, he is tired of life; for there is in London all that life can afford".

Arts and culture

Explore world-famous museums and galleries for free! Must-sees include Tate Modern, the British Museum, the National Portrait Gallery and the Science Museum. Stand face-to-face with a T-Rex at the Natural History Museum, see the best new contemporary art at The Saatchi Gallery in Sloane Square, or head to the British Library to see the Magna Carta first hand.

Theatre and music

Experience authentic Shakespearean plays at the Globe Theatre, or take in the big name shows in the West End. Be part of the Proms at Albert Hall, support up-and-coming acts in local bars, listen to jazz at Ronnie Scott’s, or dance at 1,000 ft at the Shard’s silent disco. There’s truly something for everyone!

Food and drink

Love eating out? You’ll love London. From quirky pop-ups to Michelin star restaurants, there are endless tasty options. The cuisine is as diverse as the people who call London home. You can eat your way around the globe: bagels on Brick Lane for breakfast; world-class dim sum in Chinatown for lunch; Brazilian BBQ for dinner; Sri Lankan street snacks for supper; a curry if you’re still peckish...

Shopping

In London, there are shopping opportunities to suit every taste and budget, from chic boutiques to brilliant bargains. Oxford Street and the Westfield Shopping Centres are perfect for high street, shopping, while high end boutiques include Harrods, Liberty and Selfridges. For vintage, head to Brick Lane or Camden Market.

Explore London

Our London community

When you’re in the coolest part of town, it’s impossible not to have fun.

Newcastle University London sits between the Square Mile, the business area with some seriously cool skyscrapers, and Shoreditch, a buzzing area alive with fashionable shops and creative types.

Food and drink
Food Village on Shoreditch High Street offers everything from burritos to steak sandwiches, while Spitalfields, Petticoat Lane and Brick Lane markets also sell a range of international cuisines. Meanwhile, students who are lucky enough to book a table at Sushi Samba can experience the best of London’s fine dining scene.

Arts: in and outdoors
Here, art isn’t just confined to galleries and museums, such as the outstanding Whitechapel Gallery and the interactive Red Gallery. Take a stroll to Shoreditch from Brick Lane on the trail of Instagram-worthy graffiti, and you might even spot a Banksy!

Music and nightlife
Close to campus, the Magic Roundabout is one of London’s most unique live music venues, accessible via a secret staircase and located in the middle of Old Street roundabout. Big name acts like Florence and the Machine are hosted at The Macbeth, while The Old Blue Last plays upcoming music acts.

Shopping
Fed up with samey high street shopping? You’ll love Shoreditch, known for its variety of vintage stores. BOXPARK and Redchurch Street are packed with boutiques. You can also head to Columbia Road, which transforms into an oasis of foliage and flowers every Sunday.

London: old and new
The Square Mile is packed with inspirational modern buildings. Spot the ‘Cheese Grater’, and perhaps even spend your work placement in Lord Norman Foster’s iconic Gherkin. For a glimpse into the city’s rich history, the Tower of London (home to the Crown Jewels) is just a 20 minute walk away.

Sport
If you love football, you’ll love Shoreditch Lucozade Powerleague. The 13 outdoor pitches are located opposite Shoreditch High Street overground station.
At Newcastle University London, we’re here to support you in becoming a global business leader of the future.

This starts with strong academic foundations, and blossoms through regular exposure to the real business world. Taking advantage of our location on the edge of London’s financial district, we work hand-in-hand with industry to help you develop an enviable skill-set, and the knowledge base top employers demand.

Why is an industry-immersive education so important?
Top global employers demand more than a theoretical knowledge of business. So to compete in a challenging graduate employment market, you’ll need to stand out. We combine academic theory with opportunities to work on real-life business projects.

By spending time in industry you will:
- Build your professional network.
- Gain real life business experience.
- Benefit from the personal advice from business leaders who have reached the top of their respective professions.
- Put the classroom theory into practice in the real world.

What to expect at Newcastle University London
Newcastle’s award-winning Careers Service provides a wide range of support and opportunities to engage with industry, integrated into your study experience. In addition, you will gain practical business experience. You will take part in real-life business projects, attend professional masterclasses and public debates, network with alumni based in the capital and potentially undertake a work placement with a leading organisation.

A sample of our partners in industry:

As a result of the networking opportunities provided by Newcastle University London, Ania, a MSc International Business Management student, secured a job offer before graduating. She says:

“It’s really great that Newcastle University London enables us to showcase our strengths in front of the right people, and find a way into the hidden job market. One networking opportunity brought the unexpected prospect of working at Capita Learning Services. It’s a great experience and the project management role really adds to my overall learning experience, and helps to pay London bills!”

John Viney
Chief Operating Officer - AES International

As a company with a global focus, we are proud to support students studying for an international degree. We hope to be able to offer practical insights and experience through helping with teaching, assignments and work experience.

Careers Service
Newcastle University’s Careers Service has five QS Stars for employability. It offers advice and support to students seeking a graduate career, starting a business or embarking on further study. Dedicated staff will help you plan your career, market your skills, build contacts and find jobs. You can also attend ‘Gain a Global Advantage’ day, an afternoon of inspiring talks, interactive workshops and networking opportunities with prestigious employers – all with a global focus. Find out more at www.ncl.ac.uk/press/news/2016/02/studentsgogaga

Masterclasses
Top business leaders give weekly masterclasses to our students. Previous speakers have included the former House of Fraser CEO, the former CEO of Granada Group, the director of Daytime and Lifestyle at ITV Content, the former Procter & Gamble global senior executive, a partner at solicitors Gallant Maxwell and the co-founder of Leaderscape.

Public debate series
Regular public debates help you stay well-informed. They’re free to attend, and previous events have focused on the EU referendum, corruption in sports and Lord Allen of Kensington’s career.

Alumni events
Many Newcastle University graduates occupy senior roles across London. We hold regular networking events and welcome successful professionals to meet our current students. Connecting with alumni is a great way to potentially further your career.

Work placements and internships
Supplement your studies and gain invaluable real-world experience by taking part in a year-long placement as part of your undergraduate degree. If a shorter placement is more practical, options include a three-month internship – sponsored by Santander – and an exciting range of shorter CV-enhancing placements.

Advisory Board
A number of business leaders sit on our Advisory Board to make sure our strategic direction – and the courses we offer – are perfectly aligned with the needs and ambitions of the global business community. Companies represented include: RWE Supply & Trading, Avalon, Irwin Mitchell LLP, Capita Civil Service Learning, Barlow Wells, AES International and Newton Euro.

Did you know?
Newcastle University’s Careers Service has been awarded five QS Stars for employability.

Practical classroom projects
Throughout your studies, you’ll enjoy many opportunities to prove and improve your management, strategic and decision-making skills. Typically this will include activities such as:

Group projects - A great way to showcase soft skills, as you put theory to work in a small team. Past student projects have included a live challenge at Spitalfields market, and a business simulation in which, students acted as managers of an international bicycle company making strategic decisions based on market demographics. London students have previously competed with students at the Newcastle campus on this project.

Individual assignments - A chance to let your personal abilities really shine, working on a practical project set by a well-known businesses. Previous students have, for example, written case studies on well-known organisations such as Marco Pierre White and Zaha Hadid Architects.

Find out more about careers support at: www.ncl.ac.uk/london

The Spitalfields Market challenge was a good opportunity for us to put our theoretical knowledge into practice and demonstrate our ability to work as a team. On top of that it was a lot of fun!

Quality and reputation

Newcastle University is a founding member of the Russell Group, an elite group of research-intensive universities in the UK. Over its 180-year history, the University has strived for academic excellence with impact, and today these long-held ideals are more relevant than ever.

Our reputation is based on the quality of our academic work and research approach, which engages communities, organisations, business and industry.

Newcastle University London provides a hub for global research and innovation, and our degree-teaching staff are actively engaged in research and have a passion for their subjects.

Did you know?

Newcastle University is in the UK top 20 for research power.

Research and Teaching

Research opportunities

Our students have plenty of opportunities to conduct their own research, making their own discoveries alongside staff. Dissertations allow students to study a topic that interests them in depth, boosting their CV with desirable critical thinking and problem solving skills.

Postgraduate Research Degrees

At the London Campus you can study:

- Business and Management MPhil, PhD.
- Economics MPhil, PhD.
- Finance and Accounting MPhil, PhD.
- Marketing, MPhil, PhD.

For more information, visit www.ncl.ac.uk/london/courses/postgraduate.

Research-informed teaching

Our research feeds directly into the degree course content, so students graduate with an understanding of the latest thinking in the field, which is invaluable in the global job market. Our degree-teaching staff regularly provide commentary on contemporary issues for academic journals and newspapers. Find out more below.

Cutting edge research

Dr Natalia Yakovleva
Senior Lecturer in International Business Strategy

Natalia is helping to reform the way certain industries are understood, in both academic literature and the business world. As one of Newcastle University’s key research specialisations, sustainability, particularly in the context of responsible business practices, is Natalia’s main specialisation. She is embarking on a project called Global and Urban Metabolism of Potassium to feed the City as a co-investigator with the School of Civil Engineering and Geosciences at Newcastle University.

Dr Rama Kanungo
Lecturer in Accounting and Finance

Rama’s teaching approach reflects real-life job situations, with practical assignments including business simulations where students compete with those at the home campus. (see page 22 for more info). His research interests are in a range of areas, from mergers and acquisitions to financial theory and management to risk and portfolio analysis. He is widely published in several peer reviewed journals, and one of his papers received outstanding paper award from the Emerald Literati Network.

Lecturer in Organisational Behaviour and HRM

Elina has received the prestigious British Academy Small Grant Award to examine the ways in which women have developed entrepreneurial careers during the recent economic decline. Corporate business is traditionally thought of as male-dominated, but her study will challenge previous research findings. She has also led initiatives to enhance the student experience, including a funded project to enhance students’ understanding of equality and diversity.

The London campus, our new global gateway, connects Newcastle University’s world-class research to industry and our wider community. Meanwhile, our research-informed teaching gives students an up-to-the-moment understanding of the latest trends in their subject area.
Student Support

Supporting you to achieve your ambitions

Dedicated services to help you make the most of your education.

Whether it’s your first time living away from home, you’re joining us from a different country or you’re returning to education from the world of work, we offer a full suite of support services to help you take control of your education and make the most of your university experience.

The Welcome Desk

The Welcome Desk is the hub of campus activity, and is the first port of call for all students needing to access our support services. Throughout the year, our friendly Student Support Services team is on-hand to provide help and advice on all aspects of student life. These include academic support, student welfare, accommodation and finance, as well as visa and immigration advice for international students and social activities taking place throughout the year.

The Welcome Desk is open early in the morning until the evening Monday–Saturday. We also offer a 24-hour phone number that students can call in the event of an emergency.

Academic support

Tutors and peer mentors provide support from an academic perspective. You’ll be assigned a personal tutor to help you with academic development. Turn to them for practical advice and guidance on issues such as preparing for exams and helping to signpost relevant careers and skills development provision. If you’re feeling stressed or worried they can help you balance your study and personal life too.

Student welfare

If you’d prefer to talk in complete confidence, you can also book an appointment with our welfare advisor to discussing any concerns or issues.

Freshers’ week

During Freshers’ week, you’re invited to take part in a full orientation programme. It’s designed to help you settle in before your course starts, and includes:

- A formal welcome to the University.
- An introduction to your course lecturers and/or teachers.
- An introduction to Student Support Services.
- A tour of the learning and teaching facilities.
- An optional tour of the local area.
- Help and advice on topics such as how to register at a local doctor’s surgery or open a bank account for university preparation and undergraduate students.
- An information fair for university pathway, undergraduate and postgraduate students.
- Lots of fun social events – there’s more about that on page 28.
- British Residence Permit collection sessions for international students.

Space to reflect and worship

London is a modern cosmopolitan city with a diverse population of all faiths, served by a comprehensive range of places of worship.

Useful information

Nightline London is a confidential listening service run by student volunteers throughout the night on 020 7631 0101.

NHS.uk provides information on free counselling and therapy services provided at London GP surgeries.

StudyLondon.ac.uk is an official London university guide.
amazing memories. people and make you’ll meet great rounded education, and the team at the SU will research fun stuff on your behalf, and provide information to help you make the most out of London, before you arrive. The survey also matches you with other students with similar interests. It’s a great way to make new friends before term even starts; chat and get to know each other online, so when you arrive on campus and meet face-to-face you’ll feel more at home from day one.

Freshers’ week
Your first term starts with a social programme called ‘Freshers’ week’ – there are no lectures, just lots of fun events to help you connect with other students. These typically include:
- Boat trip on the River Thames.
- Food, pizza, tea and cake receptions.
- ‘Meet and greet’ with academics on your courses.
- Fun games and activities.
- The Freshers’ Fair – see what you can get involved in whilst you’re studying.
- Tours and local area activities to help you find your feet and make the most of our fantastic location.
- Evening activities in local pubs and club nights.

Socials throughout the year
We also run social events throughout the year to help you make the most of the local area. Join in with events including:
- Trips to local landmarks such as Hampton Court.
- Fun socials, like ice skating and table tennis tournaments.
- International food events with curry nights and Chinese banquets.
- Sports nights – we screen all the major national sporting events including football, tennis, rugby and cricket.

Clubs and societies
There is a range of clubs and societies here at Newcastle University London. They include Business Society, and 102 Middlesex Street United Football Society, a club that’s brought students together to play and talk about football. If your passion isn’t represented yet, why not become a pioneer and start your own club or society? It’s a great way to make friends and enhance your CV.

University of London Students Central
You will also have the opportunity to become a member of Students Central. This is a Students’ Union for students across the 27 institutions that make up the University of London. Membership gives you access to a range of societies, sports and events, and allows you to connect with the wider London student population. For more information, visit www.studentcentral.london.

Charity and volunteering
Lending a hand to worthy causes is a great way to make friends, connect with the wider community and boost your CV. The Students’ Union will help you find volunteering opportunities such as student mentoring, or fundraising for charities like Providence Row, an innovative local charity that works to prevent and reduce homelessness, here in the East End.

Adventures on your doorstep
Although our campus community is friendly and welcoming, you’ll want to make the most of our local area too. Multicultural Whitechapel’s markets, galleries and contemporary exhibitions give a taste of traditional London, while Spitalfields Market and the fiery flavours and buzzing bars of Brick Lane are just around the corner. You’ll stumble across up-and-coming fashion boutiques, independent art galleries, mouthwatering food markets – every study break is a mini-adventure. Find six of the best on page 18.

Keeping happy and healthy
If you enjoy sport, or would like to get more active, you’ll love living in London. From waterpolo, football, rugby, baseball to dodgeball, you can access some of the greatest sports clubs in the country. London was home to the 2012 Olympic Games, and the Queen Elizabeth Olympic park is just three tube stops from campus! Follow in the footsteps of Olympians at facilities including the Copper Box (host to handball, modern pentathlon, fencing and goalball in the Games), Lee Valley Hockey and Tennis Centre, Lee Valley VeloPark and the London Aquatics Centre.

If you fancy something sporty right on our doorstep, join the football club and play on the 5-a-side pitches in Shoreditch. Closer still are our on-campus facilities: there’s a Fitness First gym in the basement, plus table tennis tables for a fun break between seminars and lectures – more on facilities on page 12.
Choose from a variety of options, including residences within easy reach of the campus, carefully selected homestay accommodation or privately let accommodation.

Scape East – Mile End
This premium self-catering student residence is in the heart of the East End. Live alongside international and UK students in a sleek, self-contained studio of your own. These smart flats are carefully designed with space-saving storage, large windows to let in natural light, a luxurious en suite bathroom with an oversized power shower, plus your own integrated kitchen. Communal areas and organised activities make it easy to make friends, while individual bedrooms guarantee privacy when studying.

“Good quality and affordable student accommodation is what you get choosing Scape East.” – Justyna Zabawa, Accommodation Warden.

The Craft Building
This newly refurbished building is two minutes walk from Brick Lane and very close to Spitalfields market – it’s our top choice if you want quirky shopping, great eats and endless entertainment right on your doorstep. Transport-wise, Aldgate East and Whitechapel underground stations are just minutes away. Rooms are of a high standard and offer the choice of either premium en suite or classic en suite, arranged in friendly clusters of eight, with generous and well-equipped shared kitchens.

“Life in craft is very comfortable. The building is in the central part of the city that makes it easy to do shopping, go to gym, eat in restaurants. I enjoyed my time in Craft Building a lot!” – Karina, MSc International Business Management student.

Homestay
Homestay accommodation provides an environment more like the family home. Options range from half-board (breakfast and evening meal) to self-catering, with locations throughout London. Students live with their host, sharing mealtimes and all the other normal amenities of a family home, like bathrooms and laundry facilities.

Private student accommodation
Student house share - if you’re on a tighter budget a student house share can be a great option. These carefully selected homes-from-home are shared with other students from Newcastle University London. You’ll have your own private bedroom, but will share communal spaces like the kitchen, bathrooms and lounge.

Premium student residences
- Across London there are a range of other private student residences, including the stunning Chapter Spitalfields, a premium student accommodation building just a minute’s walk from campus. It offers everything, from karaoke rooms to a sky lounge bar on the 32nd floor.

For further information about any of our accommodation options, visit http://go.ncl.ac.uk/london/accommodation or contact newcastelondon@ncl.ac.uk.

Our quality of education and links with global organisations headquartered in London make a degree from Newcastle University London a sound investment. To finance your studies, we offer a range of scholarships and students can also apply for government loans.

Home and EU students

Tuition Fees

Undergraduate 2016: £9,000

The maximum fee that we are permitted to charge for UK/EU students is set by the UK government. Our undergraduate tuition fees for UK/EU students for 2017/18 will be set and published when the government establishes limits for tuition fees. As a general principle, you should expect the tuition fee to increase in each subsequent academic year of your course, subject to government regulations on fee increases.

Postgraduate 2017: £6,000

For detailed fee information, see page 56.

Student loans

All UK/EU undergraduate students are entitled to a loan to cover the full cost of tuition fees while at university. You only start repaying your loan once you have graduated and earn more than £21,000 a year. Living cost loans are also available.

UK/EU postgraduate students who have not studied a master’s degree before and are under the age of 60 might be able to get a loan of up to £10,000, to help cover the full cost of tuition fees while at university.

UK (home) rate of fee for the full duration of their programme of study.

International students

Tuition Fees

University preparation 2017. Tuition fees vary depending on the type and length of the programme. For more information, see page 56.

Undergraduate 2017: £13,980

Postgraduate 2017: £17,500 for MSc International Business Management and International Marketing, and £18,500 for MSc Banking and Finance.

Student loans

You may be eligible for a tuition fee loan from your home country. The UK Council for International Student Affairs website is a useful resource: www.ukcisa.org.uk.

Scholarships

Some students are eligible for scholarships and discounts. To find out more, visit http://go.ncl.ac.uk/london/scholarships.

Additional costs

Some of our courses involve extra costs that are not covered by your tuition fees. These include some subject-specific expenses such as extra equipment/materials for individual projects and some field trips. For further information on additional costs, see www.ncl.ac.uk/london/finance.

Placement year fees

Undergraduate students who take a work placement year receive a significant reduction for that year. Check online for more information: go.ncl.ac.uk/london/different-tuition-fees.

Visit our website for the most up-to-date information available: www.ncl.ac.uk/london/finance.

Undergraduate access support for home and EU students

We know that some students face extra challenges when applying to university. In some areas of the UK, going to university is unusual - and this can sometimes feel like a barrier for young people who want to. It might be that you’ve got loads of potential, but you’re worried that your family can’t afford to support your dreams. Whatever your background, whatever the barriers, if you want to aim higher, we’re here to help.

Here at Newcastle University London, we want the brightest and best students to apply to us, so we’re passionate about providing information and support to help everyone with big ambitions apply.

Our access schemes

Realising Opportunities

Newcastle University leads this award-winning scheme, which aims to encourage talented students from across the UK to apply to research-intensive universities including Newcastle. Find out more at www.realisingopportunities.ac.uk

PARTNERS – Receive a lower offer for students from England only

If you’re less likely to go to university because of your family background, low income or school opportunities, our nationally recognised PARTNERS programme can help. It is a supported entry route to help talented applicants overcome barriers to applying here. So far, Newcastle University has supported over 3,000 students to enter the University who might otherwise not have done.

You’ll complete a summer school at the University in the July of Year 13, which includes introductory sessions in the subject area of the course you have applied to and sessions to develop key transitional skills necessary for success at university. The summer school provides 40 points towards your offer from the University, meaning the A level (or equivalent) grades we ask you for are lower than normal (e.g. ABB instead of AAA).

You’ll also get: help with applying and understanding student finance; the chance to meet other students on the scheme; and to learn more about Newcastle and student life here. It is a great way to find out about university.

Are you:

- From a family with a low income?
- First in your family to apply to university?
- In care (or have been in care)?
- A high achiever but worried about getting your grades?
- Not sure where to get information about university?
- Worried about applying because you don’t know anyone who’s at university and don’t know enough about it?

Check if you’re eligible to apply and find out more about PARTNERS at www.ncl.ac.uk/partners

The European Union Referendum

The UK’s 2016 EU referendum returned a ‘leave’ vote. While this decision will undoubtedly have consequences, no major changes will take place immediately, and the exit process should be gradual and managed.

Newcastle University has guaranteed that EU students entering in 2017 will pay the UK (home) rate of fee for the full duration of their programme of study.

At Newcastle University London, we celebrate diversity, and are proud to welcome students from around the world to our global campus community.

Planning your studies
Whether you plan to study for a degree or on a university preparation course, it’s easy to plan your studies at Newcastle University London. We make regular trips overseas to meet prospective students – please email newcastlondon@ncl.ac.uk to request more information.

You’re very welcome to visit before you apply to study with us. Book your campus tour at http://bit.ly/2zRFFM

Did you know?
Students of multiple nationalities and courses study under one roof at Newcastle University London, so you’ll have the chance to make friends from day one.

Applying to Newcastle University London
Applying for a visa
To find out whether you need a visa to study in the UK, please visit www.gov.uk/check-uk-visa.

If you do need a visa, the Visa Team here at Newcastle University London can provide assistance with immigration questions, like applying to renew your student visa, rules for working in the UK during and after your studies, and inviting friends and family to visit. Contact the team before you arrive in the UK by emailing newcastlondon@ncl.ac.uk, or visit the Welcome Desk.

Integrated Undergraduate Programme
International students that do not meet the academic requirements of our undergraduate degrees can study an Integrated Undergraduate Programme. It is a four-year course (or five for students that carry out a work placement as part of their degree programme) combining an International Foundation in Business with an undergraduate degree, and only one visa is required for the duration of the course.

For more information, visit page 47.

English language requirements
If English isn’t your first language, we’ll ask for evidence of your proficiency:

- Undergraduate and postgraduate students – IELTS score of 6.5 or equivalent.
- University preparation programmes – IELTS score of 5.0 or equivalent.

If you don’t meet the requirements yet, it’s worth considering the Pre-Sessional English programme. For more information, visit page 52.

Support for international students
Our friendly student support and academic teams are here to help all students, and are well practiced at helping international visitors feel at home in the UK. You’ll soon settle in and start making the most of university life.

Welcome week
The support starts as soon as you arrive. Once you’ve unpacked, welcome week begins. This full orientation programme includes:

- Registration.
- Formal welcome to the university.
- Help opening a bank account.
- A trip to collect your biometric residence permit.
- City tour.
- Advice on how to register with the police.
- The all-important social programme to help you settle in – there’s lots of fun planned, from boat trips to sports to parties. Find out more on page 26.

Academic support
Every new student is assigned a personal tutor – a member of the academic team you can talk to about how your studies are progressing. You’ll be introduced during your first week of studies, and will be invited to meet regularly:

- International Foundation students meet with their personal tutor once a term.
- All other courses meet with their personal tutor at least twice in the first semester, then once per semester thereafter.

English language assessment and support
If you’re not a native English speaker or studying an English language course, you may be able to take up to 10 hours of free in-sessional English classes per week and sign up for one-to-one tutorials. These are designed to help you improve your academic writing, listening, speaking, pronunciation and grammar skills.

We ask most international students to take a short English language assessment upon arrival to identify any additional language support you might need. However, if you’ve achieved a high IELTS score (or equivalent), or you’re joining us from a country where English is widely used, you may be exempt from the test. Find out more at http://go.ncl.ac.uk/london/uela.

International Pathways – English Studies

Academic English

This programme focuses on academic English and the study skills you need to succeed on your pre-university academic programme or university degree.

About the programme
This intensive English programme will develop your English language and academic study skills, as well as enhance your research and academic presentation abilities. The programme is delivered via a blend of face-to-face classes, where you will be among a supportive learning community, and online learning.

With multiple start dates and different durations of study, the course has the flexibility to cater for students with differing language abilities.

Pre-sessional English

A short and intensive preparation in academic English for academically qualified international students who are due to start an undergraduate or postgraduate degree at Newcastle University London in September 2017.

About the programme
On this programme you will learn with students studying the same, or similar subjects at university with a focus on content-specific vocabulary, grammar, style and structure. You will attend lectures from specialists on topics relevant to your future studies, and practise speaking English on topics related to your degree programme. This will enable you to adapt to living and studying in the UK prior to beginning your degree studies.

Newcastle University London English Language Policy
In line with UK government (the Home Office) regulations, all students seeking admission to Newcastle University London must be competent in English Language. For qualifications at NQF level 6 (degree level) or above this must be at a minimum of level B2 on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) in each of the four components of language learning (reading, writing, speaking and listening). IELTS 5.5 is deemed to demonstrate B2 level competence.

Under no circumstances will a student with an overall level of English Language below IELTS 5.5, or with a reading, writing, speaking or listening score below IELTS 5.5, be given admission to a full degree programme at Newcastle University London.

I chose to study at Newcastle University London because of the excellent international job opportunities in the capital. Plus Newcastle University has good rankings!

Our students

Past, present & future

We are proud of our reputation as a world-class civic university. Students at both our Newcastle and London campuses are able to achieve excellence through the guidance and support we offer.

We encourage students to work hard and contribute to university life as much as possible in order for them to find their passion and become rounded, global citizens.

Past

Nick

CEO of Impact Marathon Series and Newcastle University alumnus.

After graduating from Newcastle University in 2010, Nick became an investment advisor at a large international firm in the city, but he has always had strong humanitarian interests.

While at Newcastle University he worked with the Ameca Trust, an African medical and educational clinic. Whilst there, he took a team of 60 Newcastle University students to the summit of Kilimanjaro, helping to raise more than £130,000 for the cause.

This year he left the world of finance to set up his own enterprise, Impact Marathon Series, a social enterprise allowing participants to run a marathon overseas and help develop sustainable communities. This became the first international marathon he set up in Uganda, and Nick explains that the experience made him realise that you can change lives by getting people to run.

Present

Constantina

MSc International Business Management student at Newcastle University London.

Constantina has always had an interest in marketing and management – she came second in a school competition in which participants set up their own business.

She studied graphic design at university and wanted to become a graphic designer. However, during her third year dissertation, her passion for business and marketing was sparked again.

Her research into marketing strategies for luxury perfume brand Chanel made her realise she had an interest in this rewarding business discipline, and her new career plans began to evolve.

Constantina’s goal is to open an international company with marketing and advertising services.

We’re happy to support Constantina as she works towards her goal.

Future

Martina

International Foundation in Business student at Newcastle University London.

Originating from Northern Italy and of Hong Kong descent, Martina has become fully involved in campus life as a student ambassador.

She enjoys the multiculturalism and creativity of the capital city, and says that she has already made friends with students from a range of backgrounds. Although she hasn’t got a firm career goal yet, she knows that she wants to work for a large international business when she graduates from the BSc course, and she would love to work in a cosmopolitan city such as London, New York or Hong Kong.

Uniplan Insurance

Uniplan Insurance is a comprehensive insurance policy prepared especially for international students in the UK to cover loss of personal possessions as well as travel, health and medical claims.

Full travel, health and medical insurance is mandatory for all international students studying any programme at Newcastle University London and for European students studying a university preparation or English language course. Uniplan Insurance will automatically be added to your programme fees unless you show that suitable alternative cover has been provided. We strongly recommend however that all students have insurance. Please contact newcastlondon@ncl.ac.uk for further information about suitable insurance packages.
How to apply

Applying to Newcastle University London is easy and we offer you plenty of support should you need it.

Home and EU students

Students from the UK and countries that are part of the European Union (EU) should apply for undergraduate degree courses using the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS). This is a UK-based organisation that manages the application process for British universities. The service can be accessed via www.ucas.com. Each undergraduate course has its own UCAS code that students use in their application.

Postgraduate applications should be made via our website www.ncl.ac.uk/london. EU students applying for university preparation programmes can also apply via this platform.

Support for international applicants

Whether you decide to complete your application with the support of an education counsellor in your home country or apply directly, we offer a simple application process and we will support you every step of the way.

Throughout the process, our multilingual customer relations advisers are available to help answer your questions. They can speak a range of languages including English, Mandarin, Cantonese, Arabic, Russian, Spanish, Japanese, Lithuanian, French, Italian, Polish, German, Vietnamese, Malay and Portuguese.

We have excellent relationships with education agents around the world who can provide information and assist you with the submission of your application to Newcastle University London. For more information, visit your country page on www.ncl.ac.uk/international.

What documents do I need?

- Completed application form, signed by the student or the parent/legal guardian.
- Copy(ies) of relevant academic certificate(s) in English.
- Copy(ies) of English language certificate(s) in English (where appropriate).
- Full details of previous study in the UK.
- A copy of your passport.

Additional documents

For undergraduate degree applications

- Personal statement.
- Two references.

For postgraduate degree applications

- Curriculum Vitae.
- Two references.

What next?

After carefully reviewing your application, if successful, we will send a formal offer of a place. For direct entry for university degrees, this is usually within seven working days.

For applicants requiring a Tier 4 (general) visa, once we have received the tuition fee and accommodation deposit (as detailed in the offer letter), and all the conditions of the offer have been met, we will send a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS). This is provided by Newcastle University and is needed for your visa application.
