

PROGRAMME SPECIFICATION

1	Awarding Institution	Newcastle University
2	Teaching Institution	Newcastle University
3	Final Award	BA Hons
4	Programme Title	Classical Studies
5	UCAS/Programme Code	Q810
6	Programme Accreditation	--
7	QAA Subject Benchmark(s)	Classics
8	FHEQ Level	6
9	Last updated	May 2013
10	Programme Aims	1 To enable students to develop knowledge of and insight into the classical world, and the influence which that world has had on western culture. 2 To provide the opportunity of relating the study of the classical world to the study of other relevant fields. 3 To provide the opportunity of studying the classical languages and of applying that study to the understanding of other areas of the classical world. 4 To provide the opportunity of studying the material culture of the ancient world. 5 To foster students' intellectual and core skills and thus: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• to equip them for further, independent intellectual and personal development• to enhance their employability 6 To foster attitudes in students such that they can approach cultures, societies and viewpoints other than their own with open-mindedness, analytical enquiry and sympathetic understanding. 7 To provide a supportive learning environment. 8 To provide a programme: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• in which teaching is informed by research, both existing research in the discipline and on-going research by members of staff;• which meets the requirements of the Quality Assurance Agency (QAA) Benchmark statement for Classics degrees;• which fully meets the criteria for an honours degree laid down in the QAA's National Qualifications Framework.
11	Learning Outcomes	The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes have references to the benchmark statements for Classics. Knowledge and Understanding On completing the programme students should have: A1 a broad knowledge of, and insight into, the classical world; A2 a thorough knowledge, of and insight into, the specific aspects of the classical world on which they have specialised; A3 a knowledge of the ways in which the ancient Greeks and Romans conceptualised, and represented, their world in literary texts and material culture; A4 a knowledge of a diverse range of, and disciplines concerned with, the classical world, and the opportunity to specialise.

Teaching and Learning Methods

The primary method of imparting knowledge and understanding is through lectures supported by handbooks and/or lecture handouts and recommended reading. Knowledge and understanding are further developed by interactive sessions within lectures, classes, seminars and discussion and assignments.

The proportion of sessions involving interactive learning remains roughly constant through the three Stages. In Stages 2 & 3 there is increasing emphasis on students' independent development of knowledge and understanding in the independent study projects and in the Stage 2 and 3 modules, where the assessment requirements involve an increased element of independent study.

Assessment Strategy

In order to assess the students' attainment in the objectives of the Classical Studies programme, a combination of types of assessment is employed:

- Examinations are used to assess retention of essential knowledge and grasp of a range of issues in the module.
- Submitted assignments are used to assess students' understanding of and skills in collecting relevant information and evidence for themselves.
- Independent Study Projects assess understanding and skills similar to those assessed in submitted assignments, but also enable students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding which goes beyond that of other modules either qualitatively or quantitatively or both.

Intellectual Skills

On completing the programme students should:

B1 have developed awareness of a range of different methodologies for approaching the subject, and the independence of judgement required critically to analyse various methodologies.

B2 have the ability to approach the study of the classical world from a range of perspectives, including those of its material, philosophical and literary culture.

B3 have developed an open-minded, enquiring and sympathetic approach to the cultures of Classical Antiquity.

B4 have skills in interpreting texts and aspects of material culture.

B5 have had the opportunity to explore the significance of the Classical tradition in western civilisation.

B6 have had the opportunity to acquire a basic (or optionally a more advanced) knowledge of Latin or Ancient Greek or both, and a (basic) understanding of how to use that knowledge in the exploration of other areas of the classical world.

Teaching and Learning Methods

B1 and B3 are demonstrated and promoted in lectures, classes and seminars.

B2 is promoted, and frequently tested, by assignments, seminar presentations and participation in discussion.

B4 is promoted in lectures, classes, seminars and assignments.

B5 and B6 are promoted in dedicated modules.

Assessment Strategy

The assessment methods employed are the same as those under (A):

- Examinations assess all of B1-6.
- Submitted assignments in particular assess B2, B4 and B6.
- Independent Study Projects in particular assess B1-4.

Practical Skills
On completing the programme students should have: C1 acquired a range of applied intellectual skills, including skills of identifying and solving problems, and qualities of logical, critical, analytical and evaluative thought C2 developed an awareness of a range of different possible methodologies for approaching the subject, and of the independence of judgment required critically to analyse various methodologies. C3 acquired the ability to perceive connections between various aspects of, and approaches to, the classical world.
Teaching and Learning Methods
C1-2 are principally promoted by participation in interactive learning in lectures and classes and by preparation for and participation in seminars. Students also enhance their learning, skills of analysis and independence of judgement through independent reading and study and through the preparation of written assignments. C3 is promoted by all of these activities.
Assessment Strategy
The assessment methods employed are the same as those under (A) and (B): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Examinations assess C1-3. • Submitted assignments a in particular assess C3. • Independent Study Projects in particular assess C1-2.
Transferable/Key Skills
On completing the programme students should have acquired skills of: D1 written communication D2 interpersonal communication D3 oral presentation D4 problem-solving D5 organisation & time management D6 initiative D7 use of information technology (word processing, information tools) D8 flexibility in applying skills learnt to new material and in different contexts.
Teaching and Learning Methods
Key aspects of skills D1 and D4-7 are introduced to students through induction sessions, supported by the Student Handbooks. D1 is promoted in all three stages by lecture handouts and through feedback on written assignments. D2 is promoted by all types of interactive learning. D3 is promoted by all seminars. D4. Skills of problem-solving (under which heading are comprised all varieties of logical, critical, evaluative and analytical thought) are presented and practised in all modules. D5 is promoted by class preparation and the assignment work-load; it is particularly developed by the independent study modules. D6 is promoted by all modules involving an assessed assignment, and particularly by independent study projects. D7 is promoted through the requirement for all submitted assignments to be word-processed. Certain modules include assessed elements which encourage use of the internet and of on-line technology (esp. Blackboard and bibliographical databases). D8 is promoted by setting tasks (for discussion sessions, seminars and/or assignments) where students are required to apply skills and approaches learned elsewhere in their degree to passages, topics etc. not explicitly covered.

Assessment Strategy

The assessment methods employed are the same as those under (A), (B) and (C):

- Examinations in particular assess D1, D4, D5 and D8.
 - Submitted assignments in particular assess D1, D4-8.
 - Independent Study Projects in particular assess D1, D4-8.
- D2 and D3 are introduced and practised in many modules, but are not currently assessed.

12 Programme Curriculum, Structure and Features

Basic structure of the programme

The degree is designed, on the basis of compulsory modules that teach the major features of Greek and Roman literature (Stage 1) and the skills necessary to approach ancient texts independently (Stage 2), to provide students maximum freedom of choice; this reflects the fact that a major strength of Classics, and a major contributor to recruitment, is interdisciplinarity. After Stage 1, there are no compulsory areas, and no compulsory modules with the exception of an independent-study module at Stage 3 (Dissertation or Special Study), and at Stage 2 the two training modules that helps students prepare for that. The overall principle of broad choice extends beyond the boundaries of the discipline itself: in each of three stages, subject to DPD discretion (meant to monitor, generally, appropriateness to the programme and, specifically, coherence of a student's "package"), students may take up to 40 credits 'outside', whether in Archaeology, Ancient History, History, or even in related disciplines.

Stage 1 provides the essential underpinning for the Honours stages, inculcating basic knowledge and essential skills and introducing the rich diversity of the fields. To help achieve this, the modules on Greek and Roman literature (CAC1014 and 1013) are compulsory. Study of the classical languages is encouraged but optional.

In Stage 2 students take the compulsory modules CAC2001 and CAC2002, which include training for the independent-study module at Stage 3. For their remaining 80 credits, they choose from modules covering literature, philosophy, material culture, history, linguistic topics and 'interdisciplinary' topics such as historiography or the classical tradition, or 'outside' modules. The emphasis is on students' developing their own interests and aptitudes under the guidance of their personal tutor and the DPD, who advises on the suitability of the overall 'package'. Many of the Greek and Roman Culture (CAC) modules are designed to demonstrate different approaches to studying the classical world, and/or to encourage connections with other modules. For reasons of staff economy and programme coherence, students may choose no more than two of the CAH-coded modules.

At Stage 3, students take either of the two compulsory independent-study modules; these lead to two extended essays (CAC3001) or a dissertation (CAC3000); topics will be beyond or outside the taught content of the menu of modules.

For their remaining 80 credits, students again choose from modules covering literature, philosophy, material culture, history, linguistic topics and 'interdisciplinary' topics such as historiography or study of the classical tradition, and from 'outside' modules. The emphasis is on students' developing their own interests and aptitudes under the guidance of their personal tutor and the DPD, who advises on the suitability of the overall 'package'. Many of the Greek and Roman culture (CAC) modules are designed to relate different approaches to studying the classical world, and/or to encourage connections with other modules which may be taken. Note that for reasons of staff economy and programme coherence, students may choose no more than two of the CAH-coded modules.

Key features of the programme (including what makes the programme distinctive)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Breadth and diversity of offerings. • Strong links between teaching and research. • Opportunity to study Beginners' and Intermediate language modules that employ the distinctive "Greek/Latin in Action" approach, teaching students through the use of translations to analyse linguistic and literary features of texts in the original.

14 Support for Student Learning

The Student Services portal provides links to key services and other information and is available at: <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/students/>

Induction

During the first week of the first semester students attend an induction programme. New students will be given a general introduction to University life and the University's principal support services and general information about the School and their programme, as described in the Degree Programme Handbook. New and continuing students will be given detailed programme information and the timetable of lectures/practicals/labs/ tutorials/etc. The International Office offers an additional induction programme for overseas students.

Study skills support

Students will learn a range of Personal Transferable Skills, including Study Skills, as outlined in the Programme Specification. Some of this material, e.g. time management is covered in the appropriate Induction Programme. Students are explicitly tutored on their approach to both group and individual projects.

Numeracy support is available through Maths Aid and help with academic writing is available from the Writing Development Centre (further information is available from the Robinson Library).

Academic support

The initial point of contact for a student is with a lecturer or module leader, or their tutor (see below) for more generic issues. Thereafter the Degree Programme Director, Head of Subject, or Head of School may be consulted. Issues relating to the programme may be raised at the Staff-Student Committee, and/or at the Board of Studies.

Pastoral support

All students are assigned a personal tutor whose responsibility is to monitor the academic performance and overall well-being of their tutees. In addition the University offers a range of support services, including one-to-one counselling and guidance or group sessions / workshops on a range of topics, such as emotional issues e.g. Stress and anxiety, student finance and budgeting, disability matters etc. There is specialist support available for students with dyslexia and mental health issues. Furthermore, the Student Union operates a Student Advice Centre, which can provide advocacy and support to students on a range of topics including housing, debt, legal issues etc.

Support for students with disabilities

The University's Disability Support Service provides help and advice for disabled students at the University - and those thinking of coming to Newcastle. It provides individuals with: advice about the University's facilities, services and the accessibility of campus; details about the technical support available; guidance in study skills and advice on financial support arrangements; a resources room with equipment and software to assist students in their studies.

Learning resources

The University's main learning resources are provided by the Robinson and Walton Libraries (for books, journals, online resources), and Information Systems and Services, which supports campus-wide computing facilities.

All new students whose first language is not English are required to take an English Language Proficiency Test. This is administered by INTO Newcastle University Centre on behalf of Newcastle University. Where appropriate, in-session language training can be provided. The INTO Newcastle University Centre houses a range of resources which may be particularly appropriate for those interested in an Erasmus exchange.

15 Methods for evaluating and improving the quality and standards of teaching and learning

Module reviews

All modules are subject to review by questionnaires which are considered by the Board of Studies. Changes to, or the introduction of new, modules are considered at the Board of Studies and/or the School Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee. Student opinion is sought at the Staff-Student Committee and/or the Board of Studies. New modules and major changes to existing modules are subject to approval by the Faculty Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee.

Programme reviews

The Board of Studies conducts an Annual Monitoring and Review of the degree programme and reports to Faculty Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee. The FLTSEC takes an overview of all programmes within the Faculty and reports any Faculty or institutional issues to the University Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee.

External Examiner reports

External Examiner reports are considered by the Board of Studies. The Board responds to these reports through Faculty Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee. External Examiner reports are shared with institutional student representatives, through the Staff-Student Committee.

Student evaluations

All modules, and the degree programme, are subject to review by student questionnaires. Informal student evaluation is also obtained at the Staff-Student Committee, and the Board of Studies. The National Student Survey is sent out every year to final-year undergraduate students, and consists of a set of questions seeking students' views on the quality of the learning and teaching. The results from student surveys are considered as part of the Annual Monitoring and Review of the programme and any arising actions are captured at programme and School / institutional level and reported to the appropriate body.

Mechanisms for gaining student feedback

Feedback is channelled via the Staff-Student Committee and the Board of Studies.

Faculty and University Review Mechanisms

The programme is subject to the University's Internal Subject Review process. Every six years degree programmes in each subject area are subject to periodic review. This involves both the detailed consideration of a range of documentation, and a one-day review visit by a review team which includes an external subject specialist in addition to University and Faculty representatives. Following the review a report is produced, which forms the basis for a decision by University Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee on whether the programmes reviewed should be re-approved for a further six year period.

16 Regulation of assessment

Pass mark

The pass mark is 40%

Course requirements

Progression is subject to the University's Undergraduate Progress Regulations and Undergraduate Examination Conventions. In summary, students must pass, or be deemed to have passed, 120 credits at each Stage. Limited compensation up to 40 credits and down to a mark of 35% is possible at each Stage and there are re-assessment opportunities, with certain restrictions.

Weighting of stages

The marks from Stages 2 and 3 will contribute to the final classification of the degree. The weighting of marks contributing to the degree for Stage 2 is half the weight of those for Stage 3.

Common Marking Scheme

The University employs a common marking scheme, which is specified in the Undergraduate Examination Conventions, namely

	Modules used for degree classification (DC)	Modules not used for degree classification
<40	Fail	Failing
40-49	Third Class	Basic
50-59	Second Class, Second Division	Good
60-69	Second Class, First Division	Very Good
70+	First Class	Excellent

Role of the External Examiner

An External Examiner, a distinguished member of the subject community, is appointed by Faculty Learning, Teaching and Student Experience Committee, following recommendation from the Board of Studies. The External Examiner is expected to:

- See and approve assessment papers
- Moderate examination and coursework marking
- Attend the Board of Examiners
- Report to the University on the standards of the programme

In addition, information relating to the programme is provided in:

The University Prospectus: <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/undergraduate/>

The School Brochure: <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/marketing/services/print/publications/ordering/>

Degree Programme and University Regulations: <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/regulations/docs/>

The Degree Programme Handbook

Please note. This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and of the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve if she/he takes full advantage of the learning opportunities provided. The accuracy of the information contained is reviewed by the University and may be checked by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education.
