REQUEST TO EXTEND RESTRICTION TO THeses

Newcastle University is subject to the Freedom of Information Act 2000. This Act gives a general right of access to all information held by the University. Print and electronic theses are normally made available for consultation in the Library or within another library on inter-library loan after an initial restriction of 6 months.

If someone specifically wishes to see your thesis, we must give them access, unless the material qualifies for an exemption under the Act. Please indicate which (if any) of the following exemptions may apply to your material:

I request that no access of any kind be permitted to this thesis in print or electronic format for a further period of 6 months from the end of the initial period of restriction. Thus the period of restriction will be a total of 12 months from the date of receipt of the thesis in the Library. This is because: (please tick as appropriate)

[ ] 1. Some or all of the material is due for publication, or I am actively seeking to publish it.*
[ ] 2. Release of the material would prejudice substantially the commercial interests of any person.
[ ] 3. The material includes information that was obtained under a promise of confidentiality.
[ ] 4. Other (please specify:)

If someone asks to see your material, we will use this information to decide whether or not it qualifies for a Freedom of Information exemption and can be withheld.

A thesis which contains such a statement by the author may nevertheless be at any time consulted, without the author’s permission, by the supervisor of the thesis or by the Head of School concerned.

Any additional restriction on access must be arranged in writing with the relevant Dean of Postgraduate Studies.
