

NEWCASTLE UNIVERSITY

COUNCIL'S DELEGATION OF POWERS AND AUTHORITY¹

Council

The Council is the supreme governing body of the University, subject to the provisions of the University's Statutes. Its powers are set out in the University's Statutes. Council approved a statement of its primary responsibilities in accordance with the The Higher Education Code of Governance published by the Committee of University Chairs in 2014 (revised in 2018 and 2020).

Council is responsible unambiguously and collectively for overseeing the University's activities, determining its future direction and fostering an environment in which the institutional mission is achieved. Council is responsible for ensuring the effective management of the University and will take all final decisions on matters of fundamental concern, being decisions that have not been delegated.

Public Interest Governance Principles

Council is ultimately responsible for upholding the Public Interest Governance Principles as specified by the Office for Students. These are summarised below.

- I. Academic freedom: academic staff have freedom within the law:
 - a. To question and test received wisdom; and
 - b. To put forward new ideas and controversial or unpopular opinions without placing themselves in jeopardy of losing their jobs or privileges.
- II. Accountability: the University operates openly, honestly, accountably and with integrity and demonstrates the values appropriate to its charitable objectives.
- III. Student engagement: All students have opportunities to engage with the governance of the University.
- IV. Academic governance: Council receives and tests assurance that academic governance is adequate and effective through the work of the Senate.
- V. Risk management: The University operates comprehensive corporate risk management and control arrangements (including for academic risk) to ensure the sustainability of the operations, and its ability to continue to comply with all of its conditions of registration with the Office for Students.
- VI. Value for money: Council ensures that there are adequate and effective arrangements in place to provide transparency about value for money for all students and for taxpayers.
- VII. Freedom of speech: Council body takes such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure that freedom of speech within the law is secured.
- VIII. Council: The size, composition, diversity, skills mix, and terms of office of the Council must be appropriate for the nature, scale and complexity of the University.
- IX. Fit and proper: Members of Council, those with senior management Responsibilities must be fit and proper persons.
- X. Powers to award qualifications: must be followed.
- XI. Independent members of the governing body: Must form a majority at meetings of Council
- XII. Regularity, propriety and value for money: Council ensures that there are adequate and effective arrangements in place to ensure public funds are managed appropriately, in line with the conditions of grant and the principles of regularity, propriety and value for money, and to protect the interests of taxpayers and other stakeholders.

¹ Some of the following is based on schedules of delegation prepared by other universities including the University of Edinburgh and the University of Sheffield. The University acknowledges that its governing structures are similar to many others found in higher education.

The Vice-Chancellor and President

The Vice-Chancellor and President is the chief executive and accountable officer to the Office for Students. They are the chief academic and administrative officer of the University. They shall have general responsibility to Court, Council and Senate for maintaining and promoting the University's efficiency and good order.

Council recognises the need to empower the Vice-Chancellor and President to advance the interests of the University, maintain its efficiency, and encourage teaching, the pursuit of learning and the conduct of research. Accordingly, apart from the areas of exclusive decision listed below, the Council delegates full authority to the Vice-Chancellor and President to act on its behalf in all matters affecting the well-being of the University, subject to the following principles:

- The Vice-Chancellor and President will act within the terms of the prescribed conditions of their appointment.
- The Vice-Chancellor and President actions will be consistent with the University's strategic plans and objectives, its budget and in conformity with relevant legislation and externally prescribed conditions, including the responsibilities as the accountable officer under the Office for Students Regulatory advice 10: Accountable officers. Guidance for providers on the responsibilities of accountable officers.
- The Vice-Chancellor and President's actions will be consistent with the seven principles of public life identified in the report on Standards in Public Life (the Nolan Report) and the Office for Students' Public Interest Governance Principles.
- The Vice-Chancellor and President will at all times act in accordance with the best interests of the University, its staff and students and with the intention of promoting the good name and values of the University.
- The Vice-Chancellor and President will be accountable to the Council.
- The Vice-Chancellor and President may delegate their delegated authority as they determine in accordance with the management structure in the University. Where the Vice-Chancellor and President delegates authority, they still remain accountable to the Council.
- In cases of doubt, the Vice-Chancellor and President shall seek clarification from the Chair of Council.

The Vice-Chancellor and President is responsible for:

1. The organisation, direction and leadership of the University and of the staff.
2. Preparing annual estimates of income and expenditure for consideration by Council and for the management of budgets and resources, within the estimates approved by Council.
3. Overseeing the deployment of resources in the University.
4. Stewardship of the assets of the University, both physical and intellectual.
5. Arrangements for student welfare and the maintenance of student discipline.
6. The recruitment, selection, reward, development, performance, management, health and safety, equality of opportunity, discipline and dismissal and determination of the pay and conditions of staff (within the framework approved by Council and/or specified in the Statutes) other than the remuneration of those staff whose pay is determined by the Remuneration Committee.
7. Creating or abolishing any post in the University, except those posts specifically created by the Statutes and subject to following any procedure specified in the Statutes for such actions.

8. Acting as the most senior representative of the University on all occasions save where specific powers have been reserved to Council, when the Chair of Council shall so act, or where the Chancellor is identified as the senior University representative.
9. Acting as the designated officer responsible and accountable to the Office for Students, and, ultimately, to Parliament, for ensuring that the institution uses public funds in ways that are consistent with the purpose for which those funds were given and complying with the conditions attached to them.

Council areas of exclusive decision

There are areas of business that the Council reserves to itself for decision, whether directly or through authority delegated to its Committees as set out from time to time in the terms of reference for those Committees or through authority delegated to specific officers as determined by the Council from time to time. These are:

1. Approval of the University's Strategic Plan.
