

5th LANDSCAPE ARCHAEOLOGY CONFERENCE

NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE AND DURHAM (UNITED KINGDOM)
17 – 20TH SEPTEMBER 2018

FINAL INFORMATION & CALL FOR REGISTRATION

Follow this link to REGISTER

Deadline for reduced-fee Early Registration (£195) : 4th July 2018

Deadline for Final Registration (£225) : 4th August 2018

The 5th Landscape Archaeology Conference will take place in Newcastle and Durham from the 17th to the 20th September 2018. We will be welcoming over 300 participants, from almost 40 countries and from a very wide range of disciplines concerned with the archaeological and environmental study of landscape, including archaeology, anthropology, environmental sciences, geography, geology, heritage, landscape architecture, landscape history and others. The Universities of Newcastle and Durham have almost a century-long tradition of archaeological research and teaching. Their own research interests spread across the world, but their ‘local’ region, north east England, is well worth visiting for its wealth of prehistoric remains and perhaps the best known of the Roman imperial frontiers. The region was one of the cradles of early Christianity in Britain and a birthplace of the Industrial Revolution; all in all, a perfect location for LAC2018.

Our calls for sessions and presentations was very successful and the conference will have 35 sessions running in nine parallel sessions over three days, 18-20th September, and our programme contains c 270 oral presentations and 35 posters. There will be half day excursions on 19th September, and a social programme:

Conference Excursions

Participants will be able to choose from one of four half day excursions in the afternoon of Wednesday 19th September. Each tour will begin in Durham at midday and coaches will return participants to Newcastle in the early evening. The four tours are (provisionally, details may change):

1. The North Pennines
2. Metropolitan landscapes (Tyne & Wear)
3. Hadrian's Wall
4. Durham city, castle and cathedral Walking Tour

Exhibitors

There will be displays at the conference by publishers and equipment manufacturers. There remain opportunities and space available for interested publishers, exhibitors or demonstrators to take display space or in some other way support, sponsor or participate in LAC2018, or to advertise relevant products and services. There will be a small fee (£150) for the costs of display space (tables, poster stands etc). Please email lac.2018@newcastle.ac.uk to discuss your requirements.

Registration

Registration is organised through Newcastle University. Follow this link to REGISTER. The final deadline for registration is 4th August 2018. The conference fee is £225, but a reduced fee of £195 is available for registration before 4th July 2018. The fee includes attendance, lunch and refreshments at the conference, the conference reception (17th September) and conference dinner (18th September) and one of the optional excursions on 19th September.

Membership of IALA

Registration is also open for membership of IALA – the International Association of Landscape Archaeology, the parent body of the LAC series of conferences. Follow this link for IALA membership. Membership permits voting rights and participation in the plenary session of the first General Assembly of IALA which will be held during LAC2018.

Accommodation

Participants are responsible for arranging and funding their own accommodation at the conference. Although part of the conference will take place in Durham, we recommend finding accommodation in Newcastle. Newcastle has a large range of types of number of accommodation; for convenience a list of hotels covering a range of prices can be found, booked and paid for when registering for the conference or by clicking this link.

Travel

Participants will need to arrange their own travel to Newcastle. Newcastle is easily accessible by direct flights to Newcastle International Airport, with links to the city centre provided by the Metro (a local train service). Newcastle also benefits from direct train services from all major UK cities including London (3 hours), Edinburgh (1.5 hours) and Manchester (3 hours).

For the parts of the conference held in Durham, transport by coach will be provided to Durham on the morning of 19th September) and returning (whether via one of the organised excursions or) back to Newcastle in the evening.

Please register early for the conference in case places run out.
We look forward to welcoming you to LAC2018!
