Use of programme handbook

The purpose of this handbook is to provide you with an overview of your Master's degree programme. This handbook should be read in conjunction with the Newcastle University Business School Postgraduate Study Guide. Together, these documents will provide you with a guide to the facilities offered to you both by the School and the wider University and are designed to complement other information provided by the University.

This handbook provides an accurate picture of the programme at the time of writing, but this may be subject to minor change during the course of the academic year. You will be informed of any changes through the appropriate channels.

Your programme

This section aims to provide you with some key information on your degree programme. Generic information relating to postgraduate degrees can be found on the Business School Postgraduate Canvas Community <https://canvas.ncl.ac.uk/login/> in the PG Study Guide.

What will my teaching programme be like in 2020/21?

We want you to get the most out of your teaching and learning and will do everything we can to support you to do so. Your learning opportunities will be made up of a mixture of online and in-person, on-campus activities. In Semester one, as a result of physical distancing requirements, lecture materials will be delivered online as will many tutorials, seminars, workshops and labs. Our plan, where it's possible and safe to do so with 2-metre physical distancing in place, is to deliver up to three hours of in-person labs, seminars and tutorial teaching per week. We will review this at key points in the Semester and these reviews will inform our approach to Semester two teaching.

We recommend you regularly check the University website for the most up to date information at: <https://enquire.ncl.ac.uk/>

Induction Week

There will be a two week Induction for your programme at the start of Semester 1, including sessions with your Degree Programme Director (DPD) and/or your Student Stage Co-ordinator (SSC), your designated Personal Tutor. This period is also your opportunity to familiarise yourself with the University, the facilities available and check details such as your timetable. A full schedule will be available on the relevant programme pages in Canvas and published on the Business School Website www.ncl.ac.uk/business/

About the Programme

The International Financial Analysis (IFA) MSc is a one-year, full-time, intensive modular programme. The programme consists of two parts: a taught component that runs during the first and second Semesters; and a report-based project that runs during the third Semester, for which a dissertation is submitted.

The IFA programme provides an integrated programme of study, covering both the necessary knowledge base and the development of the relevant skills for the analysis of securities and company accounts. It provides a strong preparation for work in financial and equity analysis, portfolio fund management, financial services, regulatory bodies, as well as in areas related more generally to accounting and finance.

Accreditation and recognition

This programme is accredited by the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA) and The Association of International Accountants (AIA). The award of the International Financial Analysis MSc provides holders with eight exemptions from the professional exam papers below:

Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA): F1 Accountant in Business; F2 Management Accounting; F3 Financial Accounting; F7 Accounting for Analysts (NBS8006); and F9 Financial Management (subject to achieving a pass mark in International Finance & Capital Markets NBS8001 Corporate Strategy & Valuation NBS8005)

Association of International Accountants (AIA): Module A (Paper 1) Financial Accounting I; Module A (Paper 2) Economics; Module D (Paper 11) Financial Accounting II

CFA Institute's University Recognition Program

This programme is part of the CFA Institute's University Affiliation Program, which means that our courses incorporate at least 70% of the CFA Program Candidate Body of Knowledge (CBOK). Current students on this programme have the chance of winning the CFA student scholarship.

Programme Structure

All students on the International Financial Analysis MSc programme will take 120 credits of compulsory taught modules and a 60-credit dissertation, as detailed below.

There are two distinct phases of the programme:

Phase 1

You will take 120 credits of taught modules in total.

Module code	Title	Semester	Credits
NBS8001	International Finance and Capital Markets	1 and 2	30
NBS8002	Techniques for Data Analysis	1 and 2	20
NBS8003	Financial Information Analysis	1 and 2	20
NBS8005	Corporate Strategy and Valuation	1 and 2	20
NBS8006	Accounting for Analysts	1 and 2	30

Phase 2:

Students take a 60 credit dissertation module.

NBS8004	Dissertation (Analyst Report)	3	60
-------------------------	--------------------------------------	----------	-----------

Dissertation

The dissertation is worth 60 credits and is the opportunity for you to integrate and apply your learning to real-world situations and problems. Specifically, you produce a detailed report – including in-depth analysis and assessments – relating to a major corporation. The dissertation is a major piece of work (no more than 12,000 words), which will enable you to apply the knowledge and skills developed during the taught element of the programme to your chosen company. You will be expected to demonstrate evaluative and analytical ability. The dissertation will be completed by 1 September 2021.

Degree programme regulations

The Degree Programme Regulations detail the modules to be studied on your Master's degree and any progression requirements, such as the need to pass the taught modules of the degree before proceeding to dissertation. It is important that you read these and make sure you know the requirements of your Master's degree. Degree Programme Regulations are available at:

www.ncl.ac.uk/regulations/programme/2020-2021/nubs.php

Programme specification

A detailed description of the programme structure, programme aims and learning outcomes can be found in the Programme Specification online at www.ncl.ac.uk/regulations/programme/2020-2021/nubs.php This includes information on the knowledge and understanding, intellectual skills, practical skills and transferable/key skills which you are expected to develop and demonstrate during your studies.

University regulations

It is important that you familiarise yourself with the University Regulations, in particular the Postgraduate (Taught) Progress Regulations and Examination Conventions which detail the regulations for study and award of a Master's degree. This includes conditions for reassessment in failed modules and criteria for eligibility of a Master's award. You are expected to read these and make yourself aware of their implications. <https://www.ncl.ac.uk/regulations/docs>

Postgraduate research

Students who are successful in their Master's programme may wish to consider applying for a PhD with Newcastle University Business School. Newcastle University Alumni may also qualify for a discount on PhD fees. Further details of the research areas covered within the School and details of research programmes are available online at <https://www.ncl.ac.uk/business-school/courses/postgrad-research/>.

Your assessment

The assessment will depend on the individual module. You can expect to be assessed by a variety of means including:

- Examinations
- assignments both individual and group
- presentations
- dissertation

The mix of assessment methods is to allow you to demonstrate your understanding of the knowledge outcomes of the programme and also your assimilation of the skills developed during your Master's programme.

The assessment methods used in individual modules are included in the module outlines. The assessments for the taught modules are summarised in the table below.

Details of assessment deadlines will be provided on the Postgraduate Canvas Community within the first two weeks of term to allow you to plan your workload. You should familiarise yourself with the assignment submission procedures available on the Postgraduate Canvas Community.

Please note that work submitted after the specified deadline, even by just a few minutes, will be treated as a late submission in line with University policy. Please see further details in the Postgraduate Study Guide on late submission of assessed work.

Occasionally, a module leader may change an assignment deadline (almost always to a later date). You will be notified of this in advance by e-mail by either the module leader or the relevant programme secretary. For all assignment deadlines, you should receive your marks and feedback within 20 working days. There may be certain exceptions to this turnaround time, but you will be notified of this at the time the deadline is set. For Semester 1 exams, generic feedback will be provided for the module early in Semester 2 to help you prepare for Semester 2 exams. For any students required to resit any exam, as a minimum generic feedback will be provided at least four weeks before the resit exam. Individual feedback for any exam can be provided on request after exam boards have met.

Please note that module leaders are reviewing the module teaching and assessment methods for Semester 2 modules, in light of the Covid-19 restrictions. Final information will be confirmed during the autumn term for Semester 2 modules.

Important note

The IFA programme is unique in that the first three weeks of teaching provide a foundation in accounting and related skills, ending with a class test that contributes 20% towards your final mark for the module 'NBS8006 Accounting for Analysts'.

Module	Individual assignment(s)	Group assessment	Examination
NBS8001 International Finance and Capital Markets	20%		80%
NBS8002 Techniques in Data Analysis	100%
NBS8003 Financial Information Analysis			100%
NBS8005 Corporate Strategy and Valuation			100%
NBS8006 Accounting for Analysts		5%	95%
