

Newcastle University – Institutional Financial Information Russell Group methodology

University income and how we spend...

The university draws on a variety of income sources to support its work, including student fees, government grants, donations, borrowing, and self generated income through commercial activities. Through a whole-system approach, this income is used to support a wide range of different activity including teaching & learning, cutting-edge research, knowledge exchange and community engagement. Ensuring research led teaching and learning excellence, a quality student experience and student outcome success are at the centre of everything we do at the university.

