

Module Sign-up Brochure 2025-26

1896U: English Literature and Creative Writing

Stage 1 going into Stage 2

1. Do your research

Read through the information on the SELLL website carefully and ask if you have any questions. If you're unsure of what modules you should be choosing, email UGOffice.elll@newcastle.ac.uk.

2. Sign up Online: Thursday 1st May, from 9am

- Have the rules for your programme, from this brochure, with you when you log onto The Student Portal. <https://studentportal.ncl.ac.uk/>.
- Compulsory modules will already be selected and optional modules will be listed for you to choose.
- The portal will close on 12th May at 8:00pm.
- Further guidance and screenshots are available here: <https://www.ncl.ac.uk/students/student-portal/>.

FAQs

How do I take an outside module?

Modules not listed on your degree regulations will not appear in this brochure and will not be available to you in the Student Portal. Instead, you will need to select 'HSS dummy module(s)'. Then you will need to fill in a module change form at the beginning of Semester 1 to change from the dummy module to your chosen outside module.

How long will module selection take?

A few minutes.

What if I suffer technical problems?

Please don't panic. You can call IT on 0191 208 5559 to log the issue. Alternatively, you can email elll@ncl.ac.uk and we will try to assist you.

Will I get my first choice of modules?

Not necessarily. We recommend that you login and submit your choices as soon as possible. We'd also recommend having back-up modules in mind, in case your first choices are full. This is why it's important to read the module descriptions and make your decisions before the portal opens.

I need further advice and guidance. Who should I ask?

If your question is in regard to a specific module, please contact the module leader listed in the module descriptions, via email. If the module leader is to be confirmed (TBC), the head of subject is listed and will also be able to answer your questions. If you don't understand your programme regulations, please contact your Degree Programme Director (DPD) Lars Iyer (lars.iyer@newcastle.ac.uk). If, after reading the module descriptions, you're struggling to decide which modules to take you can contact your personal tutor via email.

I had arranged to have a semester abroad next year. What should I do?

If you haven't done so already, please contact Aditi Nafde (aditi.nafde@newcastle.ac.uk) to discuss your options.

What if I change my mind or make a mistake?

If your choices do not comply with your regulations, they will be rejected and we will contact you to choose all your modules again – if you do not respond by the given deadline, modules will be chosen for you. If you change your mind you will be given the opportunity to change your modules at a later date. Further information will be released closer to the time.

Rules of your Programme

You must have a total of 120 credits with either a 60/60, 50/70 or 70/50 credit split across the semesters

Circle or highlight your choices, then add up your credits in the total column

Rules	Code	Module Title	Total Credits	Sem 1	Sem 2
Compulsory	SEL2215	Creative Practice	20	20
Creative Writing Pick 2	SEL2224	Poetry Workshop	20		20
	SEL2226	Theatre Script Workshop	20	20
	SEL2227	Prose Workshop	20		20
	SEL2228	Screenwriting Workshop	20		20
Pre 1800 Literature Pick 1 or 2	SEL2201	Renaissance Bodies	20	20
	SEL2202	Writing New Worlds, 1660-1800	20		20
	SEL2203	Revolutionary Britain: 1789-1832	20	20
	SEL2232	Stagecraft in Early Drama	20	20
Post 1800 Literature Pick 1 or 2	SEL2204	Victorian Passions: Victorian Values	20		20
	SEL2206	Contemporary Cultures	20	20
	SEL2233	Literatures of Decolonisation	20		20
	SEL2240	Early 20 th Century American Literature	20		20
Optional Outside Modules Pick no more than 20 credits	NCL2007	Career Development Module for Second Year Students	20	10	10
	HSS2110	Outside Dummy Module: 10 credits in Semester 1*	10	10
	HSS2210	Outside Dummy Module: 10 credits in Semester 2*	10		10
	HSS2120	Outside Dummy Module: 20 credits in Semester 1*	20	20
	HSS2220	Outside Dummy Module: 20 credits in Semester 2*	20		20
TOTAL

requires DPD approval. You will also need to complete a module change form at the beginning of Semester 1 in October 2025 to change your HSS code into your chosen outside module.*

Module Descriptions

Further details of each module can be found in the module catalogue:
<https://www.ncl.ac.uk/module-catalogue/>

SEL2215: Creative Practice

Module Leader: Professor Jacob Polley

Semester 1, 20 credits

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken SEL1000 and SEL1031 in Stage 1 (QW38 students only). If this isn't possible, students should approach the Module Leader for permission BEFORE selecting the module in the Student Portal.

This is a compulsory module for Stage 2 QW38 students.

In the lecture/workshops students will be introduced to a variety of creative practices, approaches and influences, and explore and discuss the ways that these can affect creative writing. Students will practice, evaluate and develop their own creative work as a response to the topics investigated during formal teaching, as well as carrying out independent research into their own creative practices, approaches and influences.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Portfolio	End	100	A mixed portfolio of creative and essayistic work. The submission should not normally exceed 4000 words.

SEL2224: Poetry Workshop

Module Leader: Professor Sinead Morrissey

Semester 2, 20 credits

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken SEL1000 in Stage 1 (QW38 students only).

All students must have taken SEL2215 in semester 1. If this isn't possible, students should approach the Module Leader for permission to join BEFORE choosing the module in the Student Portal.

The module consists of a combination of lectures and seminars delivered weekly.

There will also be individual tutorials to be scheduled throughout the semester by teaching staff, at which each student may present a passage of their own writing for constructive criticism from their tutor, or submission plans may be discussed.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Portfolio	End	100	Portfolio of 10-12 poems plus an essay of 1500 words.

SEL2226: Theatre Script Workshop

Module Leader: Mr Andrew Thompson

Semester 1, 20 credits

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken SEL1000 (QW38 students only).

All Students must have taken either SEL2215 in Semester 1 or SEL1031 in Stage 1. If this isn't possible, students should approach the Module Leader for permission to join BEFORE choosing the module the Student Portal.

Students will attend seminars which will focus on the drafting process and may include reading and discussing student work.

Students will have discursive workshop/lectures, contemporary plays will be discussed and craft exercises undertaken.

Students will watch plays (in person or online) and attend a cross-module discussion group, Play Club in order to present on and discuss what they have watched.

There will also be individual and pair tutorials to be scheduled during the semester by teaching staff, during which each student will present a short extract of their own writing for constructive criticism from their tutor, or submission plans may be discussed.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Portfolio	End	100	A short self contained script (2000 words) for the stage, 300 word synopsis of the same and a self-reflective essay of 1500 words.

SEL2227: Prose Workshop

Module Leader: Professor Alex Pheby

Semester 2, 20 credits

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken SEL1000 in Stage 1 (QW38 students only).

All students must have taken SEL2215 in semester 1. If this isn't possible, students should approach the Module Leader for permission to join BEFORE choosing the module in the Student Portal.

The module consists of a programme of weekly 2 hour lectures and 2 hour seminars.

There will also be individual quarter hour tutorials to be scheduled throughout the semester by teaching staff, at which each student may present a passage of their own writing for constructive advice from their tutor, or submission plans may be discussed.

This module aims to develop:

1. An appreciation of the basic elements of fiction e.g. story arc, plot, narrative point of view, characterisation.
2. Voice and style to produce a short piece of fiction with consideration of intended audience.
3. Reading and writing skills in prose fiction.
4. Imaginative skills in relation to own creative work.
5. Experience in drafting and revising in response to a range of feedback and reading.
6. Skills of giving and receiving feedback on creative work.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Portfolio	End	100	A portfolio of 2000 words of prose plus an essay of 1000 words, and 1000 words of continuous assessment.

SEL2228: Screenwriting Workshop

Module Leader: Dr Tina Gharavi

Semester 2, 20 credits

Pre-requisites: Students must have taken SEL1000 in Stage 1 (QW38 students only).

All students must have taken SEL2215 in semester 1. If this isn't possible, students should approach the Module Leader for permission to join BEFORE choosing the module in the Student Portal.

This module aims to develop:

1. An appreciation of the basic elements of fiction storytelling in screenwriting e.g. story arc, plot, narrative point of view, characterisation.

2. Voice and style to produce a short piece of screenwriting fiction with consideration of intended audience.
3. Reading and writing skills in screenwriting fiction.
4. Imaginative skills in relation to own creative work.
5. Experience in drafting and revising in response to a range of feedback and reading.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Portfolio	End	100	2500 words (approx. 10 pages) of script plus self-reflexive commentary of 1500 words or the equivalent in continuous assessment.

SEL2201: Renaissance Bodies

Module Leader: Dr Emma Whipday

Semester 1, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a pre-1800 Literature module.

The Renaissance 'rebirth' of intellectual and artistic activity across Western Europe gave rise to new genres, onstage and on the page. From closet drama to Shakespearean tragedy, and from elite sonnets to popular printed prose, we will explore how writers aimed to stimulate the sensory experiences of their audiences. What did it feel like to be a body in Renaissance England? What did writers, readers, and audiences see, hear, touch, and smell? This module will trace how the rich and various genres of Renaissance literature imagine, represent, and affect the Renaissance body, in print, manuscript, and performance.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Essay	End	70	EITHER an essay OR a creative portfolio (both 2500 words)
Written exercise	Mid	30	1500 words

SEL2202: Writing New Worlds, 1688-1789

Module Leader: Dr Laura Kirkley

Semester 2, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a pre-1800 Literature module.

The core idea of this module is that the literature of this period engages in diverse and complex ways with the discovery, understanding, and representation of 'new worlds'. These new worlds are not simply geographical; they are also social, cultural, ideological, political, environmental, and psychological. Such engagement took place as many phenomena that we now recognize as modern (scientific experiment, celebrity, global trade, feminism) began. As we study works of prose, poetry, drama, and other kinds from the 1680s to the 1780s, we will examine how new worlds of such dynamism and significance were written into being that they still shape our thinking today.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Written exercise	End	70	A 3000-word keyword essay OR a creative pastiche and related commentary totalling 3000 words.
Written exercise	Mid	Formative	Structured tasks undertaken throughout the semester.

SEL2203: Revolutionary Britain, 1789-1832

Module Leader: Dr Jonathan Quayle

Semester 1, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a pre-1800 Literature module.

This module aims to explore the many dynamic ways in which writings of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth-century engaged with such major historical events as the French Revolution and the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic wars. Throughout the module, we will explore how writers of the Romantic period (c. 1789-c. 1832) used a range of genres - including the novel, poems, essays and prose 'pamphlets' - to address themes of national identity, gender, slavery, class, conflict, nature and place, the past, the figure of the poet, childhood and the family, and religion. Starting with the responses of British writers to the French Revolution in the 1790s, we will go on to examine the further re-shaping of literature in Britain after the end of the Napoleonic wars in 1814. Writings by the following authors are likely to be studied: Edmund Burke, Thomas Paine, Mary Wollstonecraft, William Blake, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, William Wordsworth, Jane Austen, Percy Shelley, Robert Wedderburn and William Hazlitt.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Written exercise	End	75	A 3000-word essay
Written exercise	Mid	25	A 1000-word essay

SEL2232: Stagecraft in Early Drama

Module Leader: Dr James Cummings

Semester 1, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a pre-1800 Literature module.

This module involves studying pre-modern texts in their original language. It also involves reading parts aloud in seminars because we are approaching these plays as performances.

Themes explored in this module include:

- Performance (e.g. audiences, actors, staging, metadrama);
- Material culture (e.g. props, special effects, costumes);
- Dramatic representation and construction of identity;
- Politics and religion (e.g. containment v. subversion)

This module takes a creative, imaginative, and practical approach to pre-modern drama. Our focus on 'Stagecraft' means that we will be investigating scenes from late-Medieval and Renaissance plays to see how they actually worked under the conditions for which they were written and how they might be performed today. We will explore how you can conjure up a devil onstage, decapitate someone, what makes effective stage blood, and consider what it was like to see a female audience member hijack a performance. Early drama was partly a community-building exercise but also a commercial one, and yet it was often a subversive medium of entertainment, and so we will be exploring the wider social and political ramifications of these plays. If an actor can perform royalty simply by putting on a crown, then what really is the difference between a stage-king and a real one? Why does a strongly religious culture produce plays which contain blasphemous jokes or profanity?

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Written exercise	Mid	10	Weekly Canvas Quizzes
Written exercise	Mid	10	Participation and Student Reflection (500 words)

Portfolio	End	85	Final Essays or Project (3000 words)
-----------	-----	----	--------------------------------------

SEL2204: Victorian Passions, Victorian Values

Module Leader: Dr Jacob Jewusiak

Semester 2, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a post-1800 Literature module.

This module is designed to unpack the phrase, 'Victorian values', which nowadays invokes ideas of sexual repression, stifling middle-class morality, an unbending religious code, and jingoistic insularity. Yet the Victorians saw themselves as living in an age of unprecedented social change, engaging in passionate and controversial debates about the values of the world in which they lived. The module will explore five key debates – questions of gender/sexuality; religion; nature/science; class; race and empire – as they appeared in a range of different genres across the early, mid and late Victorian periods.

Each of the topics - gender/sexuality; religion; nature/science; class; race and empire - will be explored in a range of literary genres. Indicative texts and authors may include Wilkie Collins, The Moonstone; Christina Rossetti, Goblin Market; Rudyard Kipling, The Jungle Books; George Bernard Shaw, Mrs Warren's Profession; Douglas Jerrold, The Rent Day; H. Rider Haggard, She; and queer poetry.

Keywords: femininity and masculinity; queer and transgressive sexualities; class conflict; race and empire; faith and doubt; ecocriticism and history of science; fantasy and realism; drama and theatre; poetry; novel; children's literature.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Essay	End	75	3000 words
Written exercise	Mid	25	1000-word commentary
Portfolio	Mid	Formative	Essay plan and bibliography to prepare for final essay submission

SEL2206: Contemporary Cultures

Module Leader: Dr Chloe Ashbridge

Semester 1, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a post-1800 Literature module.

This module explores identity at the margins of contemporary culture. Twentieth and twenty-first century modernity is heralded as a global interconnected landscape, within which members of society are encouraged to consider themselves as participants in wide-ranging and above all inclusive cyber and social networks. This interconnectivity is not only – or even primarily – geographical, but concerned with ideological and economic formations of the human body and identity. This module locates and discusses those figures who have fallen between the cracks of modernity, in order to demonstrate how, for a great many, contemporary culture is a space of isolation and alienation.

The module therefore mobilises ideas of waste, in all of its critical potential, in order to place texts within a broader social and political context. Focusing on the wasted lives, ambition, and opportunities of certain demographics, students will apply several theoretical approaches to examine how global systems of power and inequality are registered culturally. Indicative topics may include race, class, geography, and bio-capitalism.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Essay	End	80	Comparative essay (2500 words)

Professional skills assessment	End	20	Reflection on learning and participation of (250 words)
Written exercise	Mid	Formative	Essay (1000 words)

SEL2233: Literatures of Decolonialisation

Module Leader: Professor James Procter

Semester 2, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a post-1800 Literature module.

While the term decolonisation has recently gained a new currency within the Western academy, it was first used in the early twentieth century to describe and argue strategies for the dismantling of colonial power in locations such as Africa, the Caribbean and South Asia. Decolonisation refers in this context, not just to political formations (e.g. nationalism, anti-colonial resistance, independence movements) but also cultural formations, including those relating to language, psychology and literature. Decolonisation involves the conception of an alternative reality, and is therefore critically concerned with the work of the imagination.

By exploring the literature and thought of key African, Caribbean, Indian and black British writers from the twentieth century to the present, this module will introduce you to a range of texts that examine, narrate, and critique the cultural construction of decolonisation. We will focus on decolonisation as an ongoing process whose outcomes are often still being contested. In order to do so, we will consider a range of debates, themes and methodologies that include: globalisation, translation studies, migration and diaspora, and postcolonial studies.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Essay	Mid	25	Comparative close reading exercise (1000 words)
Essay	End	75	Comparative essay (3000 words)

SEL2240: Early 20th Century American Literature

Module Leader: Dr Mark Byers

Semester 2, 20 credits

No pre-requisites

This is a post-1800 Literature module.

What literature was produced in the early 20th century United States, and how does it respond to and generate some of the major artistic and political concerns of the period? What are its formal and thematic concerns? How can the plurality of this writing be approached and understood?

This module explores a range of American literature and critical frameworks produced in the period after the Spanish American War to the beginnings of the Cold War. Themes addressed will include nativism and internationalism, innovation, racial and cultural identity, nature, war, economics and social struggle, and the relationship to history, amongst others. There will be an explicit address to literary form as a vehicle of meaning and to the literary innovations of the period. The module will also introduce the major critical frameworks used to approach the literary movements and wider representative concerns of the literature of the period, providing a basis for critical analysis of the works studied.

The following list of authors is intended to offer an indicative sense of possible module texts: Edith Wharton, Willa Cather, Djuna Barnes, William Faulkner, Marianne Moore, Gertrude Stein, John Steinbeck, Wallace Stevens, William Carlos Williams, Gwendolyn Bennett, Rudolph Fisher, Raymond Chandler.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Essay	Mid	30	In course take-home exam (1500 words)
Essay	End	70	End of module essay (2500 words)

NCL2007: Career Development Module for Second Year Students

Module Leader: Dr Michael Cook

Semesters 1 & 2, 20 credits total

No pre-requisites

This is a Careers module offered as an optional / additional module.

The NCL2007 Career Development module offers students the opportunity to undertake work-related learning or have a professional experience in a variety of environments, both on and off the University campus, or remotely if appropriate. Through engagement with the module, students will start to develop an understanding and awareness of their skills and attributes and how they might use these in future roles. Students will enhance their employability and graduate skills as well as contributing towards meeting the aims of their host organisation.

Component	When Set	%	Comment
Professional skills assessment 1	Mid	40	A summary of intended personal development actions towards module learning outcomes for the module
Professional skills assessment 2	Mid	50	Formal 10-minute presentation recorded online using PowerPoint and submission via a single submission date assessment point
Written exercise	Mid	10	Students must complete at least 12 of 15 tasks to gain the marks available