Autumn Open Day

30 September 2023
9.00–4.00
Welcome to your Open Day

Students really are at the heart of everything we do. At Newcastle you’ll get a world-class education along with an outstanding student experience. Start your journey of self-discovery, be inspired to think differently and develop the confidence to pursue your passions.

At our Open Day you’ll have the opportunity to meet current students to get a real insight into what it’s like to study here, find out more about the courses you’re interested in and meet staff from those areas.

You can also explore our beautiful city-centre campus and see our accommodation and other facilities.

Most importantly, you’ll find out whether Newcastle is somewhere you could see yourself living and studying.

Welcome to our campus – we hope you enjoy your day with us.

Don’t forget to check-in!

There’s plenty of places to register on campus. On the morning of the event we will send you a QR code, just come along to our Welcome Desk, one of our information trailers or speak to a staff guide (look out for the turquoise t-shirts) to check-in. Alternatively, you can check-in yourself via a text message you’ll receive on the day.

Collect your ticket from the King's Gate building, Level 2 (map ref 1). Tours run every 30 minutes from 9.30–3.30 and take approximately 30–45 minutes.

Explore on your own
If you don't have time for a guided tour, here are some of the main buildings and areas that you might see when you're walking to different activities.

King's Gate
This may be the first building you see when you arrive, and where you will find our Welcome Desk and Campus tours helpdesk. It's home to our student support services such as Accommodation and Student Wellbeing. Next to King's Gate you'll find The Grand, a popular coffee stop on campus.

Northern Stage
Opposite the Students' Union and across the lawn you'll see Northern Stage, the largest producing theatre company in the North East.

Students' Union
The Grade II listed Students' Union building is the social hub of campus. You'll find everything from societies to the student newspaper, a Co-op shop and places to eat here, including a Subway and Domino's Pizza. Tours of the building run throughout the day, or pop in and look around at your leisure.

The Arches
The Arches is one of the most iconic parts of campus. The tower was built in 1911 in honour of King Edward VII. Look closely and you might spot his statue which still looks out over campus.

The Old Quadrangle
Through the Arches you'll find one of the greenest parts of our campus – the Old Quadrangle. In 1947 the Quad was turned into a formal garden dedicated to Newcastle University staff and students who died in the two World Wars. To your left is the Armstrong Building and inside you'll find King's Hall, where graduation ceremonies are held.

Student Forum
The Student Forum is a relaxing outdoor social space at the heart of the campus. Sit down and soak up the atmosphere under the watchful gaze of Newcastle University graduate Joseph Hillier's sculptures. Head through the Jubilee Arches and see the Martin Luther King statue, which was commissioned to mark the 50th anniversary of his visit to accept an honorary degree from Newcastle.

The Hatton Gallery
To the right of the Arches on King's Road you'll see the Hatton Gallery, which houses a diverse range of exhibitions and recently underwent a multimillion pound redevelopment. It also provides a platform for our Fine Art students to exhibit their work. Pop in to see the latest exhibitions.

Where to eat
There are lots of places on campus where you can stop for a drink or a bite to eat at the Open Day.
Some of the places are highlighted here and you'll find others on page 32 of this programme, and on our main University map.

Sports Centre
Sport is big at Newcastle – we're a top 10 University for sport (British Universities and Colleges rankings). We've invested £32 million in our facilities to provide you with more opportunities to take part in sport and exercise.

Great North Museum: Hancock
The Great North Museum: Hancock includes a range of fascinating exhibits, from a scale replica T-Rex skeleton to mummies from Ancient Egypt. Entry is free and the University is a leading partner in the museum.

Philip Robinson Library
Our main University library is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week during term time, and there's also a café inside if you're ready for a break.

Farrell Centre
Instigated by renowned architect-planner Sir Terry Farrell, and forming part of Newcastle University's School of Architecture, Planning and Landscape. The Farrell Centre is located in a four-storey Victorian building which has been transformed into a £4.6 million project; its mission is to widen the debate around the crucial roles that architecture and planning play in the contemporary world in ways that are innovative, engaging and challenging.
Entry is free and combines a public gallery, research hub, and community space, offering a variety of experiences for visitors of all ages.
We’re continuing to invest in our city-centre campus to create a first-class student and research environment.

Stephenson Building
Harnessing 70 years of heritage, we’re transforming the Stephenson Building into an engineering hub for world-leading research and education.

Phase 1 of this £110 million redevelopment is now open and the project will be completed in September 2024.

Our sustainable campus

Caring for our world, today and tomorrow

We want to protect our planet and your future, that’s why we’re taking climate change action. Ranked 4th in the UK and joint 24th in the world for our commitment to sustainable development*, we aim to reduce our environmental impact and reach net-zero carbon dioxide emissions by 2030.

We’re working to:
- install solar photovoltaic panels on 50 buildings across campus
- reduce the energy we use with LED lighting, heating and ventilation system upgrades
- lower our carbon footprint – choosing to refurbish rather than rebuild whenever we can
- manage our water consumption and flood risk – we’ve installed a ‘blue roof’ sustainable drainage system at The Henry Daysh Building
- improve campus wildlife habitats with 1,500sqm of extra wildflower planting – we hold the Hedgehog Friendly Campus Silver Award and a Green Flag award

Join us and be part of the change.
