10 Programme Aims

- 1 to provide learning opportunities to enable graduates to acquire the knowledge and understanding, skills and aptitudes necessary to proceed to careers in cross-cultural and international professional contexts and/or Education, in the public sector, the private sector, and the non-profit sector
- 2 to provide learning opportunities to enable graduates to acquire the multidisciplinary knowledge to undertake advanced studies in Cross Cultural Communication and in Education, involving knowledge of relevant theory from Social Psychology, Psychology, Communication and Education which will be at the forefront of these academic disciplines
- 3 to provide learning opportunities to enable graduates to acquire the skills and aptitudes necessary to undertake further advanced studies in Cross-Cultural Communication and the general field of Education
- 4 to contribute to the University objectives by providing high quality research training to an increasing number of postgraduates (Institutional Plan 6.7 (ii) and (iii)) and enhancing their key skills and employability (5.7 (iv)).
- 5 to provide a qualification which fully meets the requirements of the Higher Education Qualifications Framework at Masters Level.
- 6 To provide a programme which conforms in full with University policies and QAA codes of practice

11 Learning Outcomes

Intended Learning Outcomes for the Degree Programme conform to those defined by the HEQF as being at Masters Level. Thus the programme provides the opportunity for students to develop and demonstrate originality in the application of knowledge of Cross Cultural Communication and of Education, and an understanding of how the boundaries of knowledge are advanced through research in these fields. Graduates of this Degree Programme will be able to deal with complex issues both systematically and creatively, and will be able to show originality in tackling and solving problems. They will also have the ability to critically evaluate current research and advanced scholarship in Cross Cultural Communication and in Education carried out in, and pertaining to, different national and cultural contexts.

Graduates of this programme will also have a systematic understanding and critical awareness of current problems with, and new insights into, the nature of knowledge of cross-cultural communication. They will also have a deep understanding of the nature of culture and of group identity and their manifestation and realisation in individual communication practices. Allied to this will be a knowledge of the multidisciplinary nature of the study of Education and educational practices, and how theory derived from these can inform an understanding of Education in different national, international, cultural and cross-cultural contexts and settings.

Specific Intended Programme Learning Outcomes are detailed below.

Knowledge and Understanding

- 1 an advanced level knowledge of the main theories, models and ideas in the study of Cross-Cultural Communication and in the study of Education
- 2 an advanced understanding of the complex nature of culture and social and cultural identity, and how such identifications impact on communication practices, both within a cultural group, and in cross-cultural contexts
- 3 an advanced understanding of how human communication in general, and child and adult education in particular, influence and are themselves influenced by culture and cultural identification
- 4 an advanced understanding of how theory derived from the various sub-disciplines of Education can inform an understanding of the nature of Child and adult education, and of educational processes and practices
- 5 an advanced understanding of the main methodological approaches used in the study of Cross-Cultural Communication and Education such as classroom observation, surveys, ethnographic observation, interviews and discourse analysis. This will include an advanced understanding of strengths and weaknesses of different types of data and the development of a critical use of sources.
- 6 an advanced level of knowledge of how ethical issues impact on research. This will involve an advanced knowledge and understanding of matters relating to privacy and confidentiality in research; a critical awareness of the political context of research; a critical awareness of professional codes of practice; an advanced knowledge and understanding of the power relations inherent in research fieldwork; and a critical awareness of the ethical responsibilities that a researcher has towards the researched particularly where the researched are minors.

Teaching and Learning Methods

The teaching and learning strategies and methods for Ai, Aii, Aiii and Aiv are a combination of content specific lectures, workshops and group and individual tutorials, which are usually case-based.

The main theories, models and ideas of Language and Communication in general, and Cross Cultural Communication in particular, will be introduced in the core module CCC8086 Language and Cross Cultural Communication, and in the language and communication modules (CCC8015 Sociolinguistics, CCC8077 Professional Communication, CCC8001 The Social Psychology of Communication).

In the specialist optional modules in Education such as EDU8113 Middle Management in Education, EDU8028 Management of Change in Educational Organisations; EDU8124 Investigating Learning in the Classroom; and EDU8027 Human Resource Management in Education, knowledge specific to the field of education will be presented to students.

Students develop data collection and analysis skills through seminars, independent reading and hands-on experience in their Research Portfolio Project (Module CCC8026) , as well as through direct training during Group Tutorial Sessions for all Cross Cultural Communication+ students. Students are made aware of and acquire knowledge of ethical issues (Avi) through teamwork, presentations, case studies and independent reading, and in the preparation of the various parts of their research portfolio. Methodological and theoretical approaches will also be taught via these methods (Av).

Assessment Strategy

Ai – Aiii assessed by means of coursework for Core and Optional Modules, written assignments, oral presentation and the research portfolio, part of which will be presented in written form, and part of which will be presented in the form of an oral presentation and related handout.

Aiv assessed by means of coursework and assignments for the Optional Modules in Applied Linguistics

Av assessed by means of coursework and assignments for core and optional modules, and in the research portfolio

Avi assessed by means of the work produced for the research Portfolio

Intellectual Skills

The programme provides the opportunity for students to develop and demonstrate abilities:

- 1 to define and formulate research problems and questions and hypotheses
- 2 to understand the rationale for research methods, evaluate and select them
- 3 to understand sampling, sampling error, and biases in general
- 4 to understand and apply concepts of generalisability, validity, reliability and replicability

Teaching and Learning Methods

The teaching and learning strategies and methods for Bi – iv are a combination of lectures, workshops, group tutorials and both discipline-specific individual and team-based problem solving exercises. Students will learn through completing assignments (both written and orally presented), practical exercises and through completing their research projects for the Portfolio.

Assessment Strategy

Cognitive Skills Bi – Biv are assessed by means of written essays, individual and group presentations, book and empirical literature reviews and research for the Portfolio

Practical Skills

The programme provides the opportunity for students to develop and demonstrate:

- 1 the advanced skills of working to apply different theoretical and methodological approaches to particular cases of research in Cross-Cultural Communication and in the field of child and adult Education
- 2 the advanced techniques of making oral presentation, both individually and in teams, on issues related to Cross-Cultural Communication and to Education
- 3 the ability to write a research proposal in their chosen area of Cross-Cultural Communication and/or Education
- 4 enhanced professional and general communication skills in cross-cultural/international contexts

Teaching and Learning Methods

The teaching and learning strategies and methods for subject related skills (Ci) are in the delivery of a range of specialist modules, through a combination of interactive seminars, lectures and workshops. Students will be given support and guidance by their Module leaders on both Core and Optional Modules. Supervisors, who will be either the DPD for the CCC+Education Programme, or other staff teaching on the Programme, will discuss all aspects of the research project and portfolio production on an individual basis. Students will work in teams and will orally present their work. They will learn through participation in seminars and lectures, preparation of oral presentation, preparation of research project.

Oral presentation and written skills will be taught and practiced (Cii), both as preparation for assessed exercises on the individual modules, both core and optional, as well as in group tutorials. Research proposals will be taught and practiced as preparation for the Research Portfolio (Ciii). General professional and communication skills will be taught via the modules, and in the preparation of the research portfolio (Civ)

14 Support for Student Learning

Induction

During the first week of the first semester students attend an induction programme. New students will be given a general introduction to University life and the University's principle support services and general information about the School and their programme, as described in the Degree Programme Handbook. New and continuing students will be given detailed programme information and the timetable of lectures/practicals/labs/ tutorials/etc. The International Office offers an additional induction programme for overseas students (see http://www.ncl.ac.uk/international/coming_to_newcastle/orientation.phtml)

Study skills support

Students will learn a range of Personal Transferable Skills, including Study Skills, as outlined in the Programme Specification. Some of this material, e.g. time management is covered in the appropriate Induction Programme. Students are explicitly tutored on their approach to both group and individual projects.

Academic support

The initial point of contact for a student is with a lecturer or module leader, or their tutor (see below) for more generic issues. Thereafter the Degree Programme Director or Head of School may be consulted. Issues relating to the programme may be raised at the Staff-Student Committee, and/or at the Board of Studies.

Pastoral support

All students are assigned a personal tutor whose responsibility is to monitor the academic performance and overall well-being of their tutees. Details of the personal tutor system can be found at <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/undergraduate/support/tutor.phtml>

In addition the University offers a range of support services, including the Student Advice Centre, the Counselling and Wellbeing team, the Mature Student Support Officer, and a Childcare Support Officer, see <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/undergraduate/support/welfare.phtml>

Support for students with disabilities

The University's Disability Support Service provides help and advice for disabled students at the University - and those thinking of coming to Newcastle. It provides individuals with: advice about the University's facilities, services and the accessibility of campus; details about the technical support available; guidance in study skills and advice on financial support arrangements; a resources room with equipment and software to assist students in their studies. For further details see <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/disability-support/>

Learning resources

The University's main learning resources are provided by the Robinson and Walton Libraries (for books, journals, online resources), and Information Systems and Services, which supports campus-wide computing facilities, see <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/undergraduate/support/acfacilities.phtml>

All new students whose first language is not English are required to take an English Language Proficiency Test. This is administered by INTO Newcastle University Centre on behalf of Newcastle University. Where appropriate, in-session language training can be provided. The INTO Newcastle University Centre houses a range of resources which may be particularly appropriate for those interested in an Erasmus exchange. See <http://ncl.ac.uk/langcen/index.htm>

15 Methods for evaluating and improving the quality and standards of teaching and learning

Module reviews

All modules are subject to review by questionnaires which are considered by the Board of Studies. Changes to, or the introduction of new, modules are considered at the School Teaching and Learning Committee and at the Board of Studies. Student opinion is sought at the Staff-Student Committee and/or the Board of Studies. New modules and major changes to existing modules are subject to approval by the Faculty Teaching and Learning Committee.

Programme reviews

The Board of Studies conducts an Annual Monitoring and Review of the degree programme and reports to Faculty Teaching and Learning Committee.

External Examiner reports

External Examiner reports are considered by the Board of Studies. The Board responds to these reports through Faculty Teaching and Learning Committee. External Examiner reports are shared with institutional student representatives, through the Staff-Student Committee.

Student evaluations

All modules, and the degree programme, are subject to review by student questionnaires. Informal student evaluation is also obtained at the Staff-Student Committee, and the Board of Studies.

Mechanisms for gaining student feedback

Feedback is channelled via the Staff-Student Committee and the Board of Studies.

Faculty and University Review Mechanisms

The programme is subject to the University's Internal Subject Review process, see http://www.ncl.ac.uk/aqss/qsh/internal_subject_review/index.php

Role of the External Examiner

An External Examiner, a distinguished member of the subject community, is appointed by Faculty Teaching and Learning Committee, after recommendation from the Board of Studies.

The External Examiner is expected to:

- See and approve examination papers
- Moderate examination and coursework marking

Attend the Board of Examiners
Report to the University on the standards of the programme

In addition, information relating to the programme is provided in:

The University Prospectus (see <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/postgraduate/>)

The School Brochure (contact enquiries@ncl.ac.uk)

The University Regulations (see <http://www.ncl.ac.uk/calendar/university.regs/>)

The Degree Programme Handbook

Please note. This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and of the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve if she/he takes full advantage of the learning opportunities provided. The accuracy of the information contained is reviewed by the University and may be checked by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education.
