11 Learning Outcomes

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes at Honours level.

Knowledge and Understanding

On completing the programme students should be able to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

- A1 Aspects of UK institutions and culture
- A2 Theoretical and subject-specific vocabulary related to selected aspects of management, economics, law, and social and cultural studies which demonstrate an in-depth understanding of a chosen topic
- A3 The academic culture of UK higher education and its expectations of students
- A4 English grammar and vocabulary, including the conventions of academic English
- A5 The requirements for writing a competent essay or report, including citation and referencing

Teaching and Learning Methods

Knowledge and understanding is primarily taught through lectures supported by independent reading, seminar discussions and interactive activities and study clinics. English is primarily taught in smaller classes and reinforced through practice. The final project involves a large element of independent student research.

Assessment Strategy
Knowledge and understanding is assessed primarily through written coursework and tests, but also through presentations and the project.
Intellectual Skills
On completing the programme students should be able to: B1 Use and interpret a range of data B2 Critically evaluate arguments and evidence in written/spoken texts B3 Read academic texts with some degree of analytical skill B4 Argue a case orally or in writing
Teaching and Learning Methods
These skills are best taught and learned through practice, although the Study and Research Skills module will provide students with advice on what is expected of UK students and strategies for developing these skills. The final project in particular reinforces B1- B4.
Assessment Strategy
The final project provides a key piece of assessment of the development of intellectual skills, as do other pieces of coursework and oral presentations. The Study and Research Skills module will assess B1 to B4 in particular.
Practical Skills
On completing the programme students should be able to: C1 Develop strategies for effective note taking in lectures and seminars C2 Read and take notes from an academic text C3 Take part in academic discussions in a seminar or tutorial context C4 Write an academic essay or report in coherent English following conventions of essay or report writing, including the correct usage of referencing. C5 Present ideas and arguments in a clear and logical manner in written and oral English
Teaching and Learning Methods
The Study and Research Skills module will deliver C1, but the lessons learned will be reinforced in all the other modules. The English language skills will be taught through the English for Academic Purposes (Graduate Diploma) module largely through small group teaching with plenty of practice. However, every other module will also use and reinforce these skills. Not only will students be taught how to develop these skills, but the academic modules will provide opportunities to put these skills into practice. Referencing protocol (see C4) will be taught through the Study and Research Skills' module, in addition to EAP modules.
Assessment Strategy
Practical skills will be assessed by a range of coursework, including individual written assignments, presentations, end of term examinations and group work. All modules will indirectly assess English language competence and the ability to take notes and use sources, as they all require an ability to express ideas in English.

Transferable/Key Skills
On completing the programme students should be competent in: D1 Team work and interpersonal skills D2 Delivering academic, oral presentations D3 IT skills D4 Time management skills D5 Use of library and information sources D6 Independent thinking D7 Adaptability to a range of academic situations D8 Self evaluation skills D9 Academic written communication, including essay and report writing
Teaching and Learning Methods
The Study and Research Skills' module lectures will introduce students to these key skills and provide guidance on techniques, with practice occurring largely in the other modules and in small group teaching on the Study and Research Skills module.
Assessment Strategy
Some groupwork is required and students' success in working in teams will therefore be assessed via the quality of the end product. Several assessed oral presentations are built into the module. D3-D6 will be assessed via coursework assessment and in particular through the project. The Study and Research Skills module will also assess teamwork and essay writing. It will also be developed through the EAP modules and through extra-curricular activities. D8 will be developed particularly via the Study and Research Skills module.

14 Support for Student Learning

The Student Services portal provides links to key services and other information and is available at: www.ncl.ac.uk/students/

Induction

During the first week of the first semester students attend an induction programme. New students will be given a general introduction to University life and the University's principal support services and general information about the INTO Newcastle Centre and their programme, as described in the Degree Programme Handbook. New students will be given detailed programme information and the timetable of lectures/practicals/ tutorials/etc. The International Office offers an additional induction programme for overseas students.

Study skills support

Students will learn a range of Personal Transferable Skills, including Study Skills, as outlined in the Programme Specification. Students are explicitly tutored on their approach to both group and individual projects.

Academic support

The initial point of contact for a student is with a lecturer or module leader, or their Personal Tutor (see below) for more generic issues. Thereafter the Programme Manager or Academic Director may be consulted. Issues relating to the programme may be raised at the Staff-Student Committee, and/or at the Board of Studies.

Pastoral support

All students are assigned a Personal Tutor whose responsibility is to monitor the academic performance and overall well-being of their tutees. Personal Tutors will support students to make applications to Newcastle and elsewhere through UCAS.

INTO Newcastle also employs a Welfare Officer who is available to offer help and guide students to the range of support services offered by Newcastle University. These include the Student Advice Centre, the Counselling and Wellbeing team, the Mature Student Support Officer, and a Childcare Support Officer.

Support for students with disabilities

The University's Disability Support Service provides help and advice for disabled students at the University - and those thinking of coming to Newcastle. It provides individuals with: advice about the University's facilities, services and the accessibility of campus; details about the technical support available; guidance in study skills and advice on financial support arrangements; a resources room with equipment and software to assist students in their studies.

Learning resources

The University's main learning resources are provided by the Robinson and Walton Libraries (for books, journals, online resources), and Information Systems and Services, which supports campus-wide computing facilities.

15 Methods for evaluating and improving the quality and standards of teaching and learning

Module reviews

All modules are subject to review by questionnaires which are considered by the Board of Studies. Changes to, or the introduction of new, modules are considered at the Board of Studies. Student opinion is sought at the Staff-Student Committee and/or the Board of Studies. New modules and major changes to existing modules are subject to approval by the Cross-Faculty Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee.

Programme reviews

The Board of Studies conducts an Annual Monitoring and Review of the programme and reports to the Cross-Faculty Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee. The Cross-FTLSEC takes an overview of all programmes within its remit and reports any Faculty or institutional issues to the University Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee.

External Examiner reports

External Examiner reports are considered by the Board of Studies. The Board responds to these reports through Cross-Faculty Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee. External Examiner reports are shared with institutional student representatives, through the Staff-Student Committee.

Student evaluations

All modules, and the degree programme, are subject to review by student questionnaires. Informal student evaluation is also obtained at the Staff-Student Committee, and the Board of Studies. The results from student surveys are considered as part of the Annual Monitoring and Review of the programme and any arising issues are captured at programme and School/institutional level and reported back to the appropriate body.

Mechanisms for gaining student feedback

Feedback is channelled via the Staff-Student Committee and the Board of Studies.

Faculty and University Review Mechanisms

The programme is subject to the University's Internal Subject Review process. Every six years degree programmes in each subject area are subject to periodic review. This involves both the detailed consideration of a range of documentation, and a one-day review visit by a review team which includes an external subject specialist in addition to University and Faculty representatives. Following the review a report is produced, which forms the basis for a decision by University Teaching, Learning and Student Experience Committee on whether the programmes reviewed should be re-approved for a further six year period.
